MACHINE GUNS TESTED AT 15,000-FOOT ALTITUDE

Capt. Bender Reports Weapons Worked Properly in Temperature of 11 Below Zero.

Ninety-seven rounds were fired in the experiment, and notes made of the temperatures and results. Capt. Bender said the tests would be repeated at greater altitudes and lower temperatures as soon as permission could be obtained from the War Department to fly at greater height.

VOTES FOR FLAPPERS' BILL

British Parliament to Consider Granting Suffrage at 21.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The American tariff brought the United States and Argentina once again sharply up against each other yesterday in a closed subcommittee meeting called to draft a preamble to the Pan-American Union convention.

Charles E. Hughes, chairman of the American delegation, is understood to have declared it would be utterly impossible to include in this document any direct reference to the advisability of reducing tariff barriers into international commerce and to make the statement of this reduction one of the main objects of the Pan-American Union as had been indicated upon by Ambassador Horacio Pueyredon of Argentina.

Pueyredon is understood to have maintained his previous position that Pan-Americanism should not be based on abstractions, and that, if it were to fulfill its purpose, it would have to take up positive problems facing the development of the American peoples.

Chief among these problems to be solved, Dr. Pueyredon maintained, is the establishment of a Pan-American commercial code.

Pueyredon's Attitude.

In a previous speech Pueyredon had moved that the new women voters at 21 may vote at the next general elections. The equal franchise measure grants women the vote at 21 on the same terms as men instead of at the age of 30 as was done in the Leopold-Loeb case.

Wind Averts Locust Plague

Sudden Shift Drives Destructive Insects From Palestine.

By the Associated Press.

JERUSALEM, Feb. 7.—A sudden change in the wind has saved Palestine from a destructive visitation of locusts, which had been expected this spring. Last Thursday vast swarms of locusts appeared in Wady, near Petra, Palestine, and about 100 miles toward Wadi. The locusts were carried to the southeast, a barren, rocky part of the desert, where it is hoped, they will die of starvation.

TO AUSTRALIA IN BABY PLANE

British Flyer Takes Off at Croydon Field.

CROYDON, England, Feb. 7.—Bert Hinkler, British flyer, took off from here this morning in a baby plane on a flight to Australia. He intends to make his first stop at Rome.

Hinkler and Capt. R. H. Macintosh last November attempted a nonstop flight to India, but were forced down in Southern Poland.

PLANS TO KEEP LIQUOR OUT OF THE CONVENTION CITIES
Dry Bureau Has "Undercover" Men
Watching Houston and Kansas City Bootleggers.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Prohibition officers are wasting no time in starting their campaign to make the Republican and Democratic national conventions dry. "Undercover" men under Alf Ostdahl, right-hand man of Prohibition Commissioner Doran, are centering their efforts on preventing the storage of liquor in Kansas City and Houston in advance of the conventions.

Evidence is at hand that big liquor operators are preparing to lay in stores at the convention cities from Mexico, Canada, and by the water routes.

While Federal officials do not anticipate any raiding of hotel rooms or harassing of delegates, they hope to break the backbone of the convention liquor trade by preventing the arrival of large supplies of liquor and by breaking down the distribution system of the bootleggers.

'SEASON TICKETS' IN HOUSTON

Contributors of $100 to Democratic Fund to Be Rewarded.

By the Associated Press.
HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 7.—A spectator's "season ticket" will be awarded each contributor of $100 or more to the Democratic National Convention under tentative plans announced today. Session tickets also may be awarded lesser contributors.

R. S. Sterling, chairman of the finance committee, emphasized however, that the convention fund is not to be obtained on a ticket selling basis. The tickets simply will be given out, he said, under whatever schedule is finally adopted, to those who demonstrate their interest in the convention by contributing to its cost.

In good butter are concentrated great funds of health-giving sunshine

Doctors and nutritional authorities now know that growth and health in children are due largely to the presence in their everyday diet, of certain valuable substances, known as vitamins A and D.

Fortunately, Nature has captured and concentrated in good, pure butter great funds of the precious rays of healthful sunshine. As a result, scientists tell us, good butter is rich in these important health-giving vitamins. As a further result, good butter enables your children to have these substances at every meal.

That is why the generous feeding of good butter to children is now widely urged. It not only helps them build healthy bodies, but also helps to combat

rickets, anemia, colds and many childhood diseases.

In Blue Valley Butter these life-giving elements are abundantly present. For in making Blue Valley every scientific precaution has been taken to retain all the vital factors.

Years of scientific work by Prof. Otto F. Hunziker, in the famous Blue Valley Research Laboratories, together with careful selection and thorough pasteurization of all cream, have resulted in a butter of absolute safety and pronounced health qualities.

But try Blue Valley! See how your children love its delightful flavor. Also how it makes them thrive and grow.

Sold only in triple-wrapped packages.

GAMBLING OPERATOR DIES
Johnny Ryan, Former St. Louisan, Succumbs in Detroit.

DETROIT, Feb. 7.—Johnny
Ryan, 35, Detroit and Chicago cabaret, and gambling house operator, died here last night from heart disease. He came here 10 years ago from St. Louis, where he was a steam fitter, and became wealthy in operating gambling houses.

His resorts here were padlocked last year so he opened the Grand-

KOHLER ONE-NIGHT CORN CURE

POLICE SCHOOL EXPERT
PRAISES LOCAL FORCE

G. T. Ragsdale of Louisville
Rates Birmingham (England)
Officers as World's Best.

A mild little man whose eyes twinkled through his spectacles has come to St. Louis to show the muscular young men, who have just joined the police force, how to be good coppers. He is George T. Ragsdale of Louisville, Ky., head of the police department at Male High School there. Police schooling is his hobby.

Ragsdale arrived here Saturday and will depart tonight. In these four days he has outlined a course of instruction of his own devised for new policemen, and the result is that the local Police Academy, which holds forth in the annex next to Police Headquarters, has increased its study time from 30 days to six weeks. A new class was started this morning.

There is nothing of the academic strain about Ragsdale. He has studied police work over most of Europe and America, and thinks the police force of Birmingham,
England, the best in the world.

Started Jail School.

"Back in 1909," he said, "we got a new jailer down in Louisville. This man was trying to approach his job scientifically,
I heard about it, and I was much impressed to see a politician going at his problem in that manner that I called at his jail. As a teacher of civics I've always made the city and the State and the nation my laboratory. This new jailer took me around the place.
When we got through he wanted to know if I had any suggestions.

"Well, I'd seen several boys of 17 or so sitting in their cells doing nothing. What does an idle man in a cell think about? How he can get a square meal, how he is going to carry out his next crime.
We started a jail school—you can usually find an inmate who has had some education—and it became a success.

"The war came and I was made educational director at Camp Knox near Louisville. When it was all over, in 1918, and I was through with my work there, I began to hear a great deal about the Louisville police force. If there was ever an efficient police department there it was. 1,000 men had joined the service or taken high-paying war jobs; the force was terrible.

Teaching Policemen.

"I went to see the Chief. He knew how bad his department was.
He asked me for suggestions. I told him to start a school for his policemen, to teach them what they needed to know. We started that school on March 17, 1919. In a short time we had one of the best forces in the country. I'm still head of that school."

"In my courses I prefer a ratio of 5 to 3 as to mental and physical instruction. First and most important is a study of the law. Then a knowledge of the police department the new man is entering.
Next, police problems. Then civics.
The St. Louis school already has a fine course in civics. Then traffic and the city's geography. On the physical side, target practice is of great importance.

"We don't regard our policemen highly educated. In parts of Europe a policeman is regarded in a class with teachers and lawyers. In Vienna a man entering the police school must have a high school education, and he must attend the police academy for three years. After 25 years' service he is retired at full pay. The man who walks a beat over there is regarded as a citizen of high standing and the result is that great respect is shown him and that means respect for the law."

A London Episode.

"I think the finest piece of policing I ever saw was in London. I was walking one night in Piccadilly Circus one evening when I saw a police sergeant sitting on a curb, his arm around a drunken little woman, keeping her quiet. Presently a patrolman came along, wheeling something that looked like a banana cart. They put the little woman into it, the sergeant folded its top—a top like one on a baby carriage, there wasn't a sound, and they quietly rolled her off to the station. I complimented them and walked along with the sergeant. I asked him if such procedure was the practice. He said it was. He asked me how we did such things and I told him how a great patrol wagon would clang down the street. He said they had many of wagons when they were needed, then he explained how a charging patrol would have caused serious accidents, how it would have distracted people's thoughts.
He not only knew how to do things, he knew why he did them."

Ragsdale thinks the technical organization of the police forces of Milwaukee, Louisville, and St.
Louis are the best in the Middle West.

ANOTHER DEBATE AT HAVANA CONFERENCE

tion of Dr. Pueyrredon that any republic could sever its relations with the Pan-American Union at any time, but it must pay its share of the expenses for the current fiscal year.

At a previous meeting the committee had voted unanimously in favor of a convention to establish firmly the objects and powers of the Pan-American Union.

It was pointed out that the convention would not become effective until all of the 21 republics had ratified the agreement. Several speakers pointed out the likelihood of some powers refusing ratification, in which case the union would cease to exist.

Señor Guerrini, of Salvador, said it was certain that at least one country would not be able to agree to the convention. He suggested that the convention stipulates that it should become effective upon ratification by a majority of the 21 governments.

Hughes contended that this would be impossible since no provision in the convention could be binding on any government without its express ratification. In view of the difficulties which confronted the application of a collective instrument, with the dangers implied in the necessity of 21 ratifications, he favored the Pan-American Union working on the basis of unanimous resolutions adopted by Pan-American conferences, as had been done thus far.

With a resolution, Hughes argued, a more rapid agreement would be possible; this could be modified to suit the different demands of the governments in matters pertaining to the administration of the union.

Judge Urbina, Mexico, proposed that the two proceedings be combined, the Pan-American conference accepting both resolution and convention, the former to be binding until the latter was ratified by all the governments.

Pueyrredon objected to this. He asserted the two conventions which would be called on to ratify the convention would regard the simultaneous acceptance of the resolutions as a method whereby the delegates "behind the back of the parliaments" had devised a means to set aside the sovereign powers of legislatures by making agreements in effect binding, despite possible adverse action by the parliament.

Venezuela's Proposal.

Venezuela proposed to avoid this trouble by specifying that the terms of the convention should be binding only until all the parliaments had an opportunity to express themselves on the convention.

The decision to allow the governments to withdraw from the Pan-American Union came upon motion of Dr. Pueyrredon, who opposed the formula suggested by Jacinto Varela, Uruguay, whereby nations would not be permitted to give shorter notice than one or two years.

Further evidence of the disintegration of the United States' among its Pan-American relations with inter-American politics was seen when Ambassador Henry P. Fletcher informed the Committee on Economic Problems that his Government would accept no provision for arbitration of disputes arising between American nations on questions of quarantine restrictions on animal or agricultural imports.

No difficulty followed Fletcher's statement, occasioned by the introduction of a report on the problem of arbitration on specifications presented by Colón Elizalde, of Ecuador, who submitted amendments to conclusions reached at the first and second Pan-American standardization conferences.

Alfaro's amendment called for establishment of an American permanent commission with headquarters in Panama to study animal and agricultural inspection regulations.

A proposal for the submission of differences to arbitration or the establishment of a Pan-American Inter-High Commission, brought an objection from Fletcher, who explained the United States would not agree to compulsory arbitration and asked that the clause establishing arbitration be struck from the amendment. Alfaro promised to limit the functions of his commission to investigation of disputes. No action was taken and the amendment was ordered held over until the next meeting.

Aviation Agreement.

The international commercial aviation convention was unanimously adopted today by the Conference Committee on Communications. This is the first step in intra-American commercial air traffic.

Objections were raised by Enrique Olaya of Colombia to the provision: "Nothing contained in this convention shall affect the rights and obligations established by existing treaties."

It was felt that this provision was not definite enough in guaranteeing free passage of commercial aviation over areas which might be restricted by mutual agreements.

The atmosphere suddenly cleared when Henry P. Fletcher of the American delegation, addressing the delegates, emphasized the importance of the Panama Canal in world maritime communications.

"We make no secret," he said, "of our desire to protect the Panama Canal. We agree to any convention that does not jeopardize maritime communications and therefore insist that the treaty be of practical character."

Protecting Panama Canal.

"Panama is not obliged to conclude a treaty with the United States, and while we want to operate in every possible manner in regulating aviation, we must not do anything which might leave the canal in jeopardy."

Ambassador Fletcher was upheld by the Chilean delegate, Carlos Vilas, who declared that the Panama Canal had been the principal underlying objection to all the conclusions, and he was glad the way was open for a general understanding.

Ricardo Alfaro of Panama said Panama had no treaty with any country which might conflict with the terms of the convention.

The document was approved with the stipulation that a copy of the minutes of this morning's session accompany the convention, which was ordered sent to all the governments.

the terms of the revision, are made subject to the obligations and rights of states signing the general convention. Prohibited areas are defined in an article which specifies such prohibitions may be made for military reasons, while contracting states deem convenient in public interest." In this case the term "For military reasons" has been stricken from the text.

Referring to the transportation of arms and war material by air, the new draft prohibits foreign or native aircraft authorized for international traffic from transporting arms "either between points situated within the territory of any of the contracting states or through the same even though simply in transit."

The editorial, headed "The Big Stick," declares Europe should follow with sympathy the revival of Latin America, and that states should contest the morality of Northern intervention in the South.

"More than the Central American republic, certain states of the North American confederation need a lesson of morality, states against whom no detachments of marines are bearing arms," the paper declares. "England, for example, might well contend that Washington, before punishing Nicaragua, ought to consider the Panama, Arkansas, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia and Virginia. Confederate states which are commercially ignored, more than 60 years, the commercial debts contracted with British firms that financed their banks and enterprises and contributed to their present prosperity in no indifferent fashion."

"All these things it is well to record and repeat in order that the policy of the big stick may not appear justified and must not be used in the last resort of Latin America in the New World," the editorial concludes.

... and here's what a Muffet is!

Picture it! Muffin size and shape. A butternut-brown, crinkly round top. Nestles in your cereal dish as if were made to order! That's what a Muffet looks like.

And here's what a Muffet is! Whole wheat, cooked, drawn out to a fine-spun, filmy-thin ribbon, wound round and round, layer upon layer, to just the right portion for the morning's appetite. Baked. Toasted, both sides.

Light as a crumpet. Crisp as potato chips. Crunchy! Crumbles in your mouth. Vitamins, calories, bran, too. But it's the pleasure of eating it that counts!

With cream and sugar—or with fruit added—Muffets for breakfast tomorrow! The Quaker Oats Co., Chicago.

MOTHER

ACross, Feverish Child is Bilious, Constipated

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Fig Syrup," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless, "fruity laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes through the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, then sore, hot, stomach aches, diarrhea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grownups, printed on the bottle. But of course, it's sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

CENTRAL HIGH DINNER TICKETS
With 1200 Sold, 300 More Are Provided for Reunion Program.

With 1200 tickets to the banquet next Saturday evening in connection with the celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the establishment of Central High School already sold, 300 more tickets have been provided. They are on sale in the lobby of the Boatmen's Building, under direction of former Circuit Judge Grimm.

A reunion of surviving graduates of the school will be held after the dinner. The affair is to be in the Beaumont High School Building. The alumni committee is seeking to reach all the "old-timers." A ticket was purchased yesterday by a woman of the class of 1878. Central was the first high school west of the Mississippi River.

"Preached" is right, Sunday said they'd expect a lawyer to talk about law, a doctor about medicine, and if they didn't expect a preacher to preach—well, it was just too bad.

"America needs to be taken down to God's bathhouse and have the hose turned on her," he told the merchants and the workers. But he reassured them: "But as men, we don't lie bad enough to stop the wheels of commerce."

Homer Rodeheaver and "Bob" Matthews accompanied him and led a song service before and after his sermon. He was introduced by R. Fuller Place, a founder of the association and member of the local revival committee, as one who, had he entered trade instead of the pulpit, might well have spoken on "How to Sell."

He said that the merchant who "used a 32-inch yardstick and "no right to condemn the bootlegger, the salaried sales, fake stocks and painted dervishes who walk our streets." As never before, he judged, there was need for honesty—"complete honesty, when woolens are woolens, silks are silks, cottons are cotton, men are men, and women are women."

"It's greater to be a real man than an angel," he remarked. "Some men are so busy trying to be angels they forget how to be men."

More than 1000 out-of-town retailers have registered for this, the annual educational session of the association, which was formed in St. Louis in 1923. It now has about 4500 members in 41 states. More than 2000 are expected to register. Mitchell Levy is general chairman of the convention.

The first educational session will be held at 7:45 o'clock tonight, the delegates having requested that the program be given at night to allow them to do their spring buying during the day. Nathan Lynch of Wichita Falls, Tex., will talk on "Building Stores With 40 Cents and an Idea;" Irene Donath of New York City, on "What the Customer Sees That You Do Not;" and A. J. Williamson of Hanibal, Mo., on "How That Continue to Increase Our Cash Business." A. A. Kuhne of Troy, Mo., president of the association, will speak on "Opportunities for the Retailer in 1928."

Mrs. Maude V. Henderson, editor and clubwoman of La Plata, Mo.; T. K. Kelly of St. Paul, Minn., and Sherwood C. Stokley will speak at tomorrow night's program.

Former Gov. Allen of Kansas will talk on "Our Peaceful Penetration" at the banquet Thursday night. Officers and directors of the association will hold a business meeting Friday.

STEALS PLAYERS' GOLF BALLS

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—Golfers of the Saint-Germain Club are gleefully singing "Bye Bye Blackbird" as the result of a sentence of death imposed on a blackbird golf ball thief.

A cache containing 50 stolen balls was discovered. Scores of other balls had been taken and never been found by the thieving bird.

Teh blackbird, late players declare, established headquarters in a thicket by the seventh green. His favorite field of operations was a bunker and so expert did he become that he could swoop down, pick up the ball in trouble and get away before the owner could drive him off.

NO IMMEDIATE PROSPECT OF CHIPPEWA BANK DIVIDEND

Report Indicates Several Months
Will Elapse Before Final Decision.

A final report on liquidation of the Chippewa Bank is being prepared by George Eigel, liquidating officer, which indicates several months will be required to dispose of the remaining assets. Upon conversion of the remaining assets depends the payment of a possible 5 per cent dividend. If that dividend is paid, depositors will have received about 80 per cent of the $2,400,000 on deposit when the bank was closed Dec. 20, 1923. There are no prospects for immediate payment of a dividend.

Eigel expects to realize upon about half of notes totaling $200,000. Some lots in Carthage, Mo. also remain to be disposed of.

Famous BLAIRE Expansion Prompts
$135,000 Expenditure.

Improvements with an estimated cost of $125,000 are to be made in the Railway Exchange Building this summer in connection with the expansion of the Farnam-Barr department store. Following removal of the Missouri Pacific Railroad office to the road's new building May 1, the store will take over four more floors, from the ninth to the twelfth, giving it 12 floors and the basement.

Nine upper floors will remain occupied by railroad and other offices. The department store is to have three elevators extended upwards and three new ones installed; also additional escalators and stairways.

DIES AFTER EATING LUNCH

He was taken to city hospital, where physicians pronounced him dead. It is believed a heart ailment caused his death.

Tell Them
How You
Lost Fat

This is to people who have lost fat in the modern scientific way. And who have gained new beauty, new health and vitality by it. You are everywhere. Tell others the facts, as you probably told yourself. The doctor who prescribed the diet discovered a cause of excess fat. They learned why some are thin and some are fat, regardless of food and exercise. They found a way to fight that cause by supplying the body some elements required in nutrition.

Then came Marmola prescription tablets embossing the new word. They have been sold for 20 years in boxes of boxes of boxes.

More of Marmola are not forced to abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. They simply take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. And exercise and diet go hand in hand with this reduction—in an amazing way.

The formula of Marmola comes in every box. Also the reasons for results. Thus you may know just why the good comes, and have no fear of harm.

People who are over-fat should start Marmola now. Order a box—before you forget. Learn all the facts about it, then watch results. When you gain your desire, tell your friends how to gain them. Don't wait any longer.

More prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

Stockholders Consider Proposal to Unite With Two Other Concerns.

Stockholders of the Fred Medart Manufacturing Co., manufacturers of steel lockers, office equipment and gymnasium supplies, met today at the offices of the company, 3535 De Kalb street, to consider a proposal for a merger with the Dard company of Chicago and the Lyon Metallic Manufacturing Co. of Aurora, Ill., which are engaged in similar business.

Phil S. Medart, president of the local corporation, declined to discuss the situation beyond admitting that the stockholders met and that proposals for the merger had been made. He added that audits of the three companies would be made within the next 30 days and that a definite announcement as to whether the deal would go through could not be made until a study of these audits had been made.

The local corporation, which has seven manufacturing buildings in the 3500 block of De Kalb street, has assets in excess of $1,600,000. It is a separate corporation from and has no connection with the older Medart company, manufacturers of patent pulleys and transmission machinery, whose plant is across the street in the same block.

The Fred Medart Manufacturing Co. was incorporated in 1908. William T. Mellow is vice president and J. S. Kiel, secretary. The directors are: August A. Busch Jr., E. R. Thomas, W. F. Fahy, Mark C. Steinberg, H. F. Urbauer, Phil S. Medart and W. T. Mellow.

President Medart said the local factory would be continued in St. Louis in the event the merger is consummated, and that he would be in charge here.

VATS AND PARTS OF STILL FOUND AFTER $5000 FIRE

After a fire which destroyed the home of Joseph Mangano, 5417 Botanical avenue, had been extinguished last night, police and firemen discovered four vats which apparently had contained mash and parts of a still, they reported. The belief was expressed that the fire might have started from the still.

Mangano, who said he knew nothing concerning the vats or still, was absent with his family at the time of the fire. Damage was estimated at $5000.

SUBMARINE SAVES SHIP CREW

Spanish Vessel Comes to Rescue of Italian Storm.

MAHON, Spain, Feb. 7.—A Spanish submarine yesterday rescued the crew of the Italian schooner Ayutadado during a severe storm despite the general belief that submarines are unable to function effectively in very bad weather.

The schooner was in bad condition and the crew undoubtedly would have perished, if the submarine had not managed to put a cable over its side and saved the men.

LETTERS CAUSED RUN ON BANKS OF MIAMI

Anonymous Writer Said One
Depository Was Unsafe—
Three Are Closed.

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7.—Rapidly diminishing excitement today followed yesterday's flurry which resulted from the closing of three Miami banks, brought optimistic statements from financiers and State banking officials. Some withdrawals were made today, but the lines to tellers' cages were not as long and as insistent as those of yesterday. State officials said they anticipated no more suspensions.

"The recovery really might be classed as remarkable," said E. M. Porter, chief State Bank Examiner.

"Usually in such cases the excitement is more intense on the second and third day than on the first. Here the flurry seems to have died out overnight."

Emergency funds had been received by virtually every major depository in the circuit.

"We've got plenty of money," was the ready comment bankers would make. "We don't see why they should want it, but if they do they can get it."

As the case yesterday, the First National Bank, with the Bank of Bay Biscayne second, was serving the longest lines of the nervous.

Both are said in financial circles to be among the strongest depositories in the State.

Meanwhile, police sought the author of a determinate number of letters mailed Jan. 28 in Miami, signed "Hiram," and adorned with a crudely-drawn Masonic emblem.

"Quietly get your money out of the Southern Bank and Trust Co.; it is going soon," these letters said, in varying language, but similar substance.

Results of these letters today had included:

Taking over of the Southern Bank and Trust Co. by State Comptroller Ernest Amos at the instance of bank officers, stimulated to this step by heavy withdrawals.

Order by Comptroller Amos that the Citizens' Bank and the Bank of Alapatah, small institutions, temporarily close to avoid possible demands on their resources.

A run on the First National Bank which kept tellers busy until closing time handing out money to depositors as they demanded it.

HOOVER FACES DILEMMA IN FLOOD CONTROL INQUIRY

His Presidential Chances May Be Affected If He Is Forced Before Senate Committee.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Presidential politics has entered into the hearings on flood control before the Senate Commerce Committee. The committee is divided on the question of summoning Secretary of Commerce Hoover as a witness.

Senator Hawes (Dem.), of Missouri, who is taking an active part in the flood control movement, has called Chairman Jones (Rep.), Washington, maintains that it is no part of the committee's business to hear from Hoover, since the subject of flood control does not fall within the province of his department. The answer to this contention is that the President was not guided by any such nicely of distinction between his Cabinet officers when he sent the Secretary of Commerce rather than the Secretary of War to make an investigation in the flooded Mississippi region.

Obviously it would be extremely embarrassing to Hoover to be called before the committee and asked what he thinks of the administration's plan to assess 20 per cent of the cost of flood control work against the communities along the river. If Hoover said that he favored that plan he would run the risk of losing some of his Southern supporters in the presidency. If he said that he was against it he would range himself in opposition to the President. It will be interesting to see whether the Senate committee drags him into the arena.

CITY DEPOSITS $120,000 FOR MISSOURI PACIFIC LAND DEAL

Escrow Agreement Toward Construction of Southern Bridge

The city's escrow agreement with the Missouri Pacific Railroad, by which the city obtains the land and easements needed for construction of the southern approach to the municipal bridge, now is on file with the Mercantile Trust Co.

As its guarantees of payment, the city deposited $120,000, while the railroad company deposited deeds to the land. Ordinances granting the concessions asked by the railroad company will be introduced in the Board of Aldermen. If they are all passed, the city keeps its $120,000. If none of them passes, the city gets $120,000, and if a part of them should pass, a Board of Adjustment would determine the settlement. In any case, the city gets the land and easements, and can proceed with the approach at once.

Wage Earners' League Election.

William E. Walters, president of the East St. Louis Central Trades and Labor Union, has been named president of the newly formed St. Louis County Wage Earners' League, a nonpartisan political organization. Al Powers is elected secretary. Members of the executive committee are: Hunter B. Kiehl, Matt Carr, Sidney Baker, David Stuart and John R. Schaefer.

Doctor Found Women and Children Sick
More Often than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough examination. "In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsi. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsi, and in that year a prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drugstores as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of either opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly.

Even drug stores sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsi. Keep a bottle in your home where many live people are sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsi can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrop Pepsi," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, never remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

High Finance and Toll Bridges.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It is high time that Representative Cochran's resolution to regulate and control the indiscriminate building of toll bridges be given attention by Congress.

"Gullible's Travels" is a fitting description of the average investor who has been induced to go into these highly promotional "paper" deals. Interest is paid for a few years out of the very money which the investor subscribes, and earning power is a matter of anybody's guess.

And yet millions of dollars have been piled up for why promoters and bond-selling organizations who, of course, receive their "cut" out of underwriting profits. One outfit not far from St. Louis received 75 per cent of stock and sufficient cash from sale of bonds to build their project—thus controlling it, without a penny of their own at stake, and, besides, juicy salaries for self-appointed "executives."

There is going to be a day of reckoning, of course. But meanwhile we will as usual learn another lesson to their sorrow—and at a very stiff price.

R. A. WARREN.

Dr. Paul Y. Tupper.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A WORD of tribute and kindly appreciation of a "saint in Israel" who has just gone home—Dr. Paul Y. Tupper.

What man in the medical world could more greatly miss? The fact that as a physician and surgeon he stood at the head of his profession, who could not appeal to the sympathy in the hearts of those to whom he so tenderly and ably ministered, as will their recollection of his fatherly kindness and tenderness and sympathy with them in their sickness and suffering and distress, and with his never-failing consideration for the person of slender means.

We are grateful to the loving Providence that gave him to us, and Who calling him to Himself, called quickly, thus saving him from the pain and suffering from which his kindly ministrations saved many. Truly, "There is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel."

A Parade for Lindbergh.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

LET'S get together and have a big auto parade when Lindbergh comes to town for his air field dedication. As a friend of Lindy, I suggest he ride in the parade, but let's have an open car. Many of us were unable to see him during his last visit. I have three boys whose great desire is just to see Lindy, and I want them to do so if possible.

Overland. JOHN MADISON.

In Which Mr. Smith Is Forced to Take a Back Seat.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I ANSWER to C. L. Smith:

I have been a reader of the Post-Dispatch since 1878, which is 18 years better than his record. I agree that the paper can't be beat.

MRS. KRAMER.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

C. L. SMITH of Litchfield, Ill., would like to hear if any one has read the Post-Dispatch longer than himself.

I wonder if he thinks that all the readers of the Post-Dispatch since 1878 have died or moved away from St. Louis. I was a reader of the Post and the Dispatch before that consolidation as the Post-Dispatch in 1878.

JOHN A. SHRINER.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I SEE C. L. Smith of Litchfield, Ill., wants to hear from some one who has read the Post-Dispatch longer than he. I read the first numbers of the Post before it was consolidated with the Dispatch near Third and Olive in the 70's. I read the Dispatch in 1878. Subscribed for the Post-Dispatch from courses at Red Bud, Ill., in 1882. Have been a reader of the Post-Dispatch ever since. I like it better as a newspaper than any other, but I do not like its policy or prohibition. I read it for the good it has done and is doing for the general welfare of the people. J. C. HAMPSON.

Welleson.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

PAGE C. L. Smith of Litchfield, Ill.: On Sept. 12, 1882, I arrived in St. Louis from New Orleans at 8 a.m. In the afternoon of the same day I picked up a Post-Dispatch in the saloon of an old Frenchman named Rivoire at Seventh and Spruce streets for the purpose of looking for a position. I answered an ad for a clerk at the Wagner palace car office in the old Union Station, near Twelfth and Spruce. Next day I got the job. Therefore, I never forgot the Post-Dispatch and have been an ardent and constant reader ever since. And I hope to read it for the next 20 years.

R. F. FLORENTIN.

WHO GOT THE BONDS?

Almost three months ago—on Nov. 13, to be exact—the Post-Dispatch asked—

Who got the bonds?

We referred to the profits of that fraudulent enterprise, the Continental Trading Company. Four men constituted that company: Harry F. Sinclair, Robert W. Stewart, James E. O'Neill and R. M. Blackmer.

The profits of this furtive concern are estimated at $3,000,000. On Nov. 13 the public knew that $233,000 of those bonds had been traced to the possession of Albert B. Fall. Since Fall's son-in-law, Everhart, has testified that Harry Sinclair gave him the bonds. And on Saturday W. S. Fitzpatrick, head of the Prairie Oil and Gas Co., of which O'Neill was formerly president, told how O'Neill, stricken by conscience, had returned $800,000 of those bonds to the Prairie.

The ledger now reads:

Continental's profits	$3,000,000
Fall from Sinclair	$233,000
Prairie from O'Neill	$800,000
Unaccounted for	$1,967,000

The efforts of these men to maintain the secrecy of the Continental's tainted profits have been desperate, tragic, defiant. O'Neill and Blackmer have chosen exile in Europe and Blackmer has forfeited $100,000 rather than take the witness stand. Stewart, rather than tell what he knows, has defied the Senate committee and is facing a charge of contempt and a jail sentence.

Will the whole story ever be told? We think so. It was the Senate Committee that got the admission from Everhart about Sinclair's payment to Fall. It was the Senate Committee that brought out the item of O'Neill's restitution to the Prairie company. In its editorial of Nov. 13 the Post-Dispatch suggested—

A Senate Committee, armed with authority to summon witnesses and bring out Governmental records, might disclose who got the bonds.

That suggestion, vitalized by Senator Norris' resolution, reopened the investigation. It is bearing fruit. Continuing its policy of helpfulness to the investigation, the Post-Dispatch publishes today the serial numbers of the Continental bonds. It was the numbers that caught Fall, and they may catch others. Information as to these bonds furnished the Post-Dispatch will be promptly turned over to the Senate committee.

A DUEL WITH BOXING GLOVES.

How France is becoming Americanized is illustrated by the two Frenchmen who chose boxing gloves as dueling weapons. It is in America that the practice of settling private disputes with the fists was originated.

THE WORLD ON WHEELS.

There are 44 makes of passenger cars at the twenty-first annual St. Louis Automobile show: 14 kinds of trucks; a Ryan airplane of the type immortalized by Lindbergh; motor boats; all the accessories. It is the gasoline engine on exhibit de luxe.

It is the passenger car's pageant. What a miracle of evolution! Yesterday's ugly duckling has disappeared as completely as Villon's "snows of yesterday."

The humblest car today, in the price scale, has a symmetry of design and an effect of beauty surpassing the princeliest creations, say, of a half dozen years ago.

Has the marvel been wrought? The categorical answer mass production. To most of us, though, that answer is a phrase. We have all heard and read a good deal about the wizardry of Ford—the magic that takes raw materials and, by a bewildering incubation, hatches out a spawn of full-fledged cars between dawn and dusk. Mythology's premier creative stunt—Minerva springing from the brow of Jove—has been gallopingly surpassed by the gods of our mechanical Olympus.

Yes, but how is it done? The February Survey Graphic gives us a glimpse of inferno in a description of the machinery for turning out the rear axle housing.

THE GARDEN THEATER.

The poetry of Shakespeare leaves the Garden Theater, and the book and lyrics and mild melodies of musical comedy come in its stead. Musical comedies may be charming affairs and often are, but Mr. Flint Garrison's decision to turn his lovely theater over to the antics of singing comedians induces a slightly melancholy sigh. In the three years of the theater's life St. Louis has been treated, among other fine things, to Goldsmith, Molire, to Humperdinck's "Haensel and Gretel," to a great performance of "Electra." Even when Mr. Garrison ventured on a revue he gave us a scene the sheer beauty of which rivaled an Oscar Wilde fairy tale. The Garden Theater has "about broken even" in giving us the classics. This coming summer, Mr. Garrison says, press of other business prevents his personal attention to his stage. We wonder if he would have felt that way about it had St. Louis supported his amiable effort more sympathetically?

THE REVOLT AT HAVANA.

It is encouraging to learn that there is a revolt against our domination of the Pan-American Conference, but there are two good reasons for being slow to believe that it is going to usher in a better era. First, the Latin-American delegations to the conference are all government delegations, and as a rule the government they represent is a borrower in the United States by consent of our State Department. Hardly a situation conducive to independence.

Second, the Latin-Americans are too mercurial to justify great expectations of them. This is the sixth Pan-American Conference, and they have threatened to revolt at every one of them. They have yet to make that threat good. In the vernacular of the Southern darky, they can cloud up but they can't rain.

It is pity. The relations between the United States and Latin-America can never achieve complete sincerity and friendship until there is equality. Our policy in the Caribbean has now explored the two very important fields of morals and wisdom, and it has been driven from both. It holds its own only upon the field of might, and there is no possibility of friendship there. To have a conference once every five years and pack it with yeaning sent there to uphold such things as our shameless and bloody war upon the Nicaraguans is never going to make for friendship among so many proud and sensitive people, and we would just as well quit trying to make it do so.

It is quite true, as he says, that the press should seek to retrieve its hold upon public opinion. It is seldom that patriotism rises to such a height, for it did that he would be almost totally deprived of the greatest press any American president has ever enjoyed. We do not imagine it will do so. It will continue partisan. It will condone yet other Falls and Dohneys. It will withhold truth, and feed the public upon the sweetened sophistries of editorial pants pressing.

But Mr. Coolidge is right. It ought not to do this.

ABUSING A GREAT RESOURCE.

What we are now paying and are likely to pay henceforth for the careless manner in which the water power sites of our navigable rivers are treated by the Federal Government was indicated in an article in Sunday's Post-Dispatch.

At least 85 per cent of Missouri's streams being technically navigable, our water power sites, by reason of the Federal Water Power act, are under the control of the board established by that act. This may or may not be an evil per se. Unquestionably, the method by which this board leases these sites is evil. The presentation of a financial plan, and of a more or less definite outline of development, and proof that State and local regulations have been met, are sufficient to secure for almost anybody a license to the exclusive use of any power site for a period of 50 years. This license is transferable, and hence a potent device for speculation.

It is just this vice, apparently, which now grips our State power sites. The Federal Power Board has granted licenses to cover practically all the 600,000 horsepower which H. A. Buehler, State Geologist, believes may be developed from Missouri streams. But only an insignificant portion of these licensees intend developing these sites. The vast majority are speculators pure and simple. They are hawking their licenses from the office of one great utility company to another.

Who will foot the bill for this gambling is certain. The ultimate consumer of electricity always pays for all the financial juggling of the magnates. What should be done about it is almost quite as clear. Either Congress should establish rules for the leasing of power sites which will protect the public from speculators, or water power, as Governor Smith proposes, should be made a State monopoly.

"A GREAT PUBLIC TRUST."

The correspondence of the late David R. Francis, reprinted in the Post-Dispatch on Monday, has to do with the St. Louis Republic. That the failure of the paper, culminating in its sale and suppression, was one of the great disappointments in Mr. Francis' experience is evidenced in the anxiety of the letters and their note of hopelessness.

Whether the failure could have been averted in all the circumstances of Mr. Francis' proprietorship is problematical. He entered the business late in life, after a career of extraordinary variety and accomplishment which may have unfitted him, rather than have equipped him, for the obligation he had assumed. Possibly had he been fortunate enough to have found a Sam Hellman at the beginning, instead of the end, of his journalistic venture, the Republic would be with us today. For Sam Hellman, long since graduated into the short-story field, was remote from the "yes-man" as it is given a mortal to be. He told Mr. Francis what was the matter with the Republic with a savage candor.

His philosophy of journalism or, shall we say, confession of faith, has recently been avowed in gentler language but identical spirit by Frank E. Gannett, who a short time ago purchased the Hartford (Conn.) Times. He said:

The Hartford Times is not considered by its new owner simply as his personal property, or as an organ to serve personal ambition or propaganda, or as a tool for exploiting any special interest. Instead it is the reader's paper, the vehicle through which the thought and life of the community may be expressed. * * * A newspaper is a great public trust. We know and sense our duty in the management of this parable men. Their wealth should not and, we believe, cannot protect them from scorn, contempt, and ostracism.

For the nation, and particularly for the Republican party, there is a lesson to be learned from the whole miserable business. Fall was Harding's appointee and friend and Harding never should have been President of the United States. He was nominated by a convention which paid scant attention to the qualifications of the candidates before it. Of all the men in the Harding-Harding was the most qualified by character, attainments, and association. Few could forecast his miserable career as President, but every one knew his limitations, which alone should have barred him from serious consideration. Another Republican convention is to be held this year. We can hope that the delegates will come to it with a greater sense of their responsibility to the nation and their party than was shown eight years ago.

THE TEAPOT DOME AND A MENACE AND A WARNING.

From the Chicago Tribune.

TEAPOT DOME persists in the news. That is the only healthy aspect of the matter. The Senate committee which is pursuing the trail of corruption has the full support of public opinion in this country.

Happy, the material damage has been repaired, so far as it is possible to repair it.

The United States Supreme Court last October upheld the cancellation of the leases obtained by Sinclair and Doheny to naval oil reserves on the ground that the leases were obtained through fraud. The finding of the court was cold, dispassionate, and unanimous. It went as far as the Supreme Court could go in deciding the issue before it.

The Supreme Court said that the Fall had received a quarter of a million dollars in Liberty Bonds which had belonged to the Continental Trading Co., in which Sinclair, among others, was interested. The bonds, it has been said, paid for a share in Fall's ranch, but recent testimony shows that no papers transferring the interest in the ranch were given. There remain another seven and three-quarter millions of dollars which belonged to the trading company to account for. In the words of the Supreme Court:

"The creation of the Continental Co., the purchase and resale contracts which enabled it to make to more than $8,000,000 without capital risk or effort, the assignment of the bonds for a small fraction of its probable value, and the purpose to conceal the disposition of its assets make it plain that the company was created for some illegitimate purpose."

Who got the rest of the assets which the Supreme Court was convinced were obtained for illegitimate purposes? There are ugly rumors. The question is one which this country cannot afford to leave unanswered.

The Continental Trading Co. bought 33,000 barrels of oil at $1.50 and sold them to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co. the same day for $1.75. That is where the profit of $8,000,000 and more came from. Shortly afterward the Continental Trading Co. went out of existence. The names of its incorporators and of the men who controlled it are not known. Among them were Sinclair, Robert Stewart of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, H. M. Blackmer, chairman of the Midwest Refining Co., a Standard Oil subsidiary, and James O'Neill, president of the Prairie Oil and Gas Co. These men as the Continental Trading Co. bought oil at $1.50 and promptly sold it to their companies through the Sinclair Purchasing Co., which is owned jointly by Sinclair and Standard of Indiana at $1.75. Not the least astonishing aspect of the whole business is that the stockholders of Sinclair and Stewart's company have forced no explanation of this purchase on their behalf of raw material at $8,000,000 above the price at which they sold it.

To be sure, Col. Stewart puts it on a little different ground. He said he has been summoned in the next fall—Sinclair's conspiracy case and he wants to tell his story there. He thinks that is fair. Well, who is Col. Stewart, anyway, that he is to choose the time and the place when and where he will tell what he knows? Have our oil barons waxed so powerful as all that?

WHY DOES STEWART PERSIST?

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

WHY should this man (Robert W. Stewart) who is accused of no crime, persist in his refusal to tell what he knows concerning the Continental Trading Co.? Why should he be willing to force his own arrest and begin an elaborate legal fight to keep from divulging information which the Senate is asking? Why, if no wrong was committed in connection with the dump oil company organized by them, have Sinclair, Stewart, Blackmer and O'Neill been willing to spend unlimited sums to avoid truth-telling?

Blackmer and O'Neill fled to Europe when the storm broke. Sinclair is protected by the Constitution from testifying against himself. Other witnesses, connected with the Sinclair Purchasing Co., are also to be called. Unless these men see fit to state frankly what they know of the Continental Trading Co.'s business they will forfeit all claims to the respect and admiration of honorable men.

WOMAN'S GREATEST CHARM DECIDED
Hollywood agrees
no one can star without Smooth Skin

The public demands exquisite smooth skin in women, say the leading film directors. No girl without a beautiful smooth skin has ever proved popular enough to star. They can't pass the test of the close-up without "Studio Skin," as it's called in Hollywood!

Under the strong blazing Klieg lights the girls with smooth skin show off. "The clever makeup cannot fake beautiful skin under the blazing lights of the close-up" — as Lewis Milestone, United Artists director, expressed it — "it must be the real thing."

Nine out of ten stars are using Lux Toilet Soap. And in the dressing rooms of the big film companies it is also the "official" soap.

Made by the method France developed for her finest toilet soaps, it gives the skin a wonderful smoothness. "Lux" Toilet Soap certainly gives my skin that lovely smoothness we mean by "Studio Skin," says Doris Kenyon, the First National star. Lux Toilet Soap is made by Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Massachusetts.

$617 AND 10 COATS
TAKEN IN 8 ROBBERIES

Four Stores and Pedestrian Held Up; Show Window in Clothing Store Smashed.

Three robberies were committed by two Negroes yesterday and a white man and Negro worked together in two other robberies. The Negroes took $50 from the register in the grocery of Max Levitt, 2200 Papin street. From Walter J. Oechle, proprietor of a grocery at 2733 Bernard street, $35 was taken, and from the cash register in the grocery of Louis Seltzer, 21 Franklin street, the Negroes got $75.

The white man and Negro robbed the drug store at 362 North Boyle avenue, escaping with $180. As Jacob Rondberg neared his home, 2952 Dickson street, last night, a white man and Negro robbed him of $285 cash and a check for $57. Rondberg had locked up his grocery at 3100 Morgan street shortly before and the money represented the day's receipts.

George Shantz, a tamale peddler, reported that three men in a carina robbed him of $2.75 and his tamale can, at Jefferson and Lucas avenues, early today. Marie Jefferson, a Negro, told police an armed Negro accosted her as she started to enter her home at 1112A North Seventeenth street, and that after he robbed her of $18, he attacked her.

A display window of the Globe Clothing Co., 727 Franklin avenue, was smashed and clothing, including 10 overcoats, all valued at $300, was taken. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ACTION ON ALIEN PROPERTY BILL

Senate Committee Approves the House Measure.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Early favorable Senate action on the House bill for return of alien property and settlement of American and German war claims was forecast by Chairman Shoot of the Senate Finance Committee after the committee had ordered the bill favorably reported.

The provisions of the House measure were approved yesterday with minor changes. The compromise agreed to by American and German delegations when a cent of the alien property would be returned forthwith, was adopted by the Senate as provided by the House. The Senate Committee provided also for making $40,000,000 immediately available for payment of American claims. Another amendment would deny the payment of any claims of the former ruling family of Germany. All awards to American claimants by the mixed claims commission on account of death and personal injury and all awards of $100,000 or less would be paid in full. Larger awards would receive $100,000 with continuing payments prorated until 80 per cent of all the awards have been paid.

THE REV. G. E. IRELAND DIES

Former Pastor of Dover Place Christian Church Was 75.

The Rev. Ethel E. Ireland, former pastor of the Dover Place Christian Church, died at Lutheran Hospital today of the infirmities of age. He was 78 years old and lived at 6709 Michigan avenue. He came to St. Louis in 1901, and organized the Dover Place Church. After 20 years he retired from the active pastorate and devoted his time to writing for Christian publications.

Surviving are his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Ethel I. Kring of St. Louis and Mrs. L. W. Williams of Wabash, Ind., and four grandchildren. Funeral services will be Friday at 2 p. m. at Calvary Presbyterian Church, which has a larger auditorium than Rev. Ireland's own church. Burial will be in Park Lawn Cemetery.

FROM CHURCH CHOIR TO OPERA

Grace Moore, Once of Jellico, Tenn., Singing at Metropolitan.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Another American girl made her debut on the historic stage of the Metropolitan Opera House this afternoon, when Miss Grace Moore, once a choir singer in Jellico, Tenn., sang Mimi in "La Bohème." In the audience were the soprano's parents and 125 Tennessee friends who had come from Chattanooga on special train.

None of them had seen her before the performance, for she had remained in seclusion with her teacher, sending a message that she was "nervous on the eve of the greatest event of her life." But confident that she would succeed. After the matinee she greeted her friends at a reception on the stage.

SAVED HIM FROM CONSTIPATION

A message for people who use laxatives

Mr. Skiles wrote us a voluntary testimonial after Kellogg's ALL-BRAN had saved him from dreadful constipation. Read his tribute:

"For years I have been constipated. After trying every kind of possible, I could only get temporary relief. I became so tired of this that I gave up the idea of ever getting rid of it. A friend told me to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I had read so many testimonial and had no reason to doubt them. The results were put out by friends. I will not only give you the privilege to use my name, but I will let you have my testimonial to my statement. I cannot express words enough to meet with Kellogg's food."

—ALICE SKILES, 225 N. Kedzie Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

If constipation is preying upon your health, check it before too late. If you are using habit-forming laxatives, stop it before this harmful practice fastens its grip too tight.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Just eat two tablespoonsfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. A 100% bran cereal—delicious with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use in cooking too. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Annoying
Night Coughs

Stopped Almost Instantly
Very frequently adults and children, especially children, have spells of night coughing due to bronchial irritations or while suffering from colds. These coughing spells, if not quickly checked, are very injurious to the health.

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine, much better than patent medicines and cough syrups, acts on a different principle, relieves the irritation and stops the cough within 15 minutes or money back. Contains no chloroform, dope or other harmful drugs. Please taste and see. 35c, 60c and $1.00. Ask for Thoxine. At all drugists.

Boric Acid
Good—But Not Enough

We recommend Iris, American's Eye Bath, because we know it is such a vast improvement over the time honored eyewash of plain boric acid.

Iris contains camphor, menthol, witch-hazel, boric acid, and pure distilled spring water, all sterilized and put into sealed sterile flasks.

Iris does three definite things for you. It makes your eyes sparkle and look alive and vivacious. It cleanses the corners of the tear ducts and under the upper and lower eyelids. It relieves soreness and inflammation.

If you will try one bottle of Iris you know you will never want another. All of our stores are instructed to refer you to Iris if you are not thoroughly pleased. Both the 4c and the 12c sizes come complete with handy eyecup. Try Iris today.

BILLS FOR 70 BRIDGES
PASSED BY HOUSE

Measures Provide for Three Structures in Missouri—
Senate Adopts 58 Proposals.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The House and Senate tried to outdo each other yesterday in passing bridge bills, but the House got the earlier start and set a record for the expedition of such legislation. It passed 70 and the Senate 68.

Momentarily it appeared that House action might be held up by a Senate member, Clegg D. Clegg of Missouri, who argued that Congress should demand additional safeguards for the purchasers of bridge bonds and securities. A proposal for this purpose, however, was rejected, 310 to 18, and then the bridge bill passing machinery of the House was slipped into high gear.

All of the bills approved by the House are still to be acted on by the Senate. They included the following bridges:

Hermann Bridge Co., Missouri River at Hermann, Mo.; R. L. Hendrix, G. C. Trammel and C. S. Miller; Ohio River at Mount City, Ill.; Cairo Association of Commerce; Ohio at Cairo, Mo.; Centennial Bridge Co., Missouri at Liberty Landing, Mo.; E. H. Wegener; Mississippi at Chester, Ill.; J. Abbott, Ohio at Gouenda, Ill.; J. L. Roman, Ohio at Shreveport, La. The Senate set to the House the following bills:

R. A. Breuer, Missouri River at Hermann, Mo.; O. F. Schulte, and others; Missouri River at Washington, Mo.; F. C. Barnhill, Missouri at Arrow Rock, Mo.; and Frank M. Burrus, Missouri at Miami, Mo.

Famous scalp treatment offered you on legal guarantee to grow new hair or costs nothing in 90 days' time or you pay nothing. New method acts to revive hair roots. Guarantee in writing furnished by your own dealer.

WE GROW NEW HAIR

A NEW and radically different way in hair treatment has been discovered. A way that has proved effective 70% of the time, according to carefully kept records, in some 200,000 cases of falling hair and baldness tested last few years.

It is offered to you under absolute, written guarantee. You use it in your own home. If it fails to grow new hair—regardless of the present condition of your hair—in 90 days, or to stop falling hair completely, it will cost you nothing.

The guarantee is made because the public has, in the past, often been deceived by so-called hair growers. This relieves you of all risk. Your own dealer gives you a signed guarantee.

Revives hair roots formerly believed dead

Important new discoveries have been made. Discoveries that upset previous methods in hair treatment. It is now said that while 4 men in 7 are bald before 40, 91%—or over 9 in 10—are so needlessly.

It has been learned that hair roots seldom die from natural causes. Learned that often, even under almost total baldness, the hair roots still live. Consider what this means.

What it is
Now by means of a special, patented applicator (note illustration) the Van Ess way does what no other method does, what no other method has ever done: Massages powerful rejuvenating and germ-combating agents DIRECTLY TO THE ROOTS OF THE HAIR—germ-fighting agents which mark an entirely new era in hair growing.

Thus this remarkable method revives and rejuvenates the actual follicles (or roots) of the hair. No other hair treatment known to science, for home use, embodied that principle. And to make hair grow, the roots must be treated.

Go to any drug store—or to any dealer anywhere. Obtain a full 90-day treatment of Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage. The dealer from whom you obtain it will supply you with a written guarantee to grow new hair in 90 days; to completely stop falling hair or your money back.

You alone will be the judge of results. There are no strings to our guarantee. It is absolute. It protects you against loss.

LINDBERGH HAILED AS WORLD HERO IN PORT-AU-PRINCE

After Swim in Mountain Water, Aviator Receives Key to City—Visits Haitian President.

WILL CONTINUE TO HAVANA TOMORROW

Flyer Idles in Air at 6000-Foot Altitude to Arrive From Santo Domingo at Scheduled Time.

By the Associated Press.
PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Feb. 7.—The key to the city of Port-Au-Prince was added to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's large collection today. It was presented him when he made an official call on the Communal Commission, after he had paid his respects to President Bony at the residence.

The Colonel this morning refreshed himself with a swim in the mountain water of the pool that adjoins the green and white two-story bungalow, placed at his disposal.

A review of gendarmerie at the Champ de Mars and a reception at the palace were on the program for the afternoon. In the evening will be a reception to the American colony and numerous distinguished Haitians.

Leave for Havana Tomorrow.

On Lindbergh's trip to Havana tomorrow it is believed he will fly over Guanabacoa, where most of the ships of Rear Admiral Robertson's scouting fleet are stationed.

A small extremist faction attempted in a minor way to create an embarrassing situation, but the attempt thus far has been confined to posting small stickers bearing the words, "Viva Sandino," on Palm trees and electric light poles in the neighborhood of the Champ de Mars.

Both Ernest Chauvet, editor of Nouvelliste, and Charles Moravia, editor of Le Temps, whose columns urged Haitians but without success to ignore Lindbergh's visit, declined to comment yesterday for whom in the press stand yesterday. Their papers failed to appear.

The peasants acclaimed Lindbergh as "gros chef." In creole voices they cried, "Vive hon papa," in hailing the American who passed among them smiling and extended to them their natural hospitality.

Save First Plane in 1920.

Eight years ago in the hills of Haiti, the peasants, who had once been Negro slaves, saw their first airplane. It was an American Marine plane scouting for bandits. Word was spread by conch horns and voodoo drums of the magic flight of a "giant white bat." The bandits later timidly attacked an abandoned plane, slashing its wings to kill the "bird."

A half hour ago was the time scheduled for its arrival, the peasants saw the "Spirit of St. Louis" to them "the great silver eagle." It appeared. It was 3000 feet above the 9000-foot barrier of the mountains.

Realizing that he was ahead of time, Lindbergh disappeared. He flew over old bandit strongholds and in the distance saw a range of mountains lost in the haze which rose from the celebrated Windward Passage. Three miles off shore he saw the battleship Wyoming and Utah.

Set 2 p. m. for Arrival.

The time neared 2 o'clock, the hour Lindbergh had set for his arrival. Suddenly the plane darted out of the clouds and sped like a silver lance straight for Bowen Field. It was exactly 2 o'clock when he landed.

The first question Lindbergh asked Brigadier-General John Henry Russell, United States High Commissioner, was "Well General, did I get in on time?"

When assured he did, the flyer replied with a smile, "Fine, I tried to."

But before Lindbergh alighted a reminder of his air mail days preceded him, a red, white and blue mail bag. This, bearing mail from Santo Domingo, was tossed out by the flyer, just as he used to do on the Chicago-Chicago route, before he stepped from the plane.

In English, President Borno welcomed the flyer. He hailed him as a conqueror and the hero of all the world. Miss Yvonne Mathon, niece of the president of the Republic, handed the flyer a bouquet of pink roses. Lindbergh passed these to an aide. Borno then awarded him the Order of Merit and embraced the flyer.

Street Named for Flyer.
Overnight the city had renamed three streets in honor of Lindbergh. Avenue Lindbergh, Avenue Washington, Avenue Boller, President Borno had suggested that they be renamed to the flyer with the greatest American figure and Latin America's greatest patriot.

When told he was passing down Avenue Lindbergh, the flyer threw back his head and laughed like a schoolboy. Twelve hundred blue-jackets and marines snapped to a salute as Lindbergh passed and then yelled "Attaboy Lindy." By his devoted Marine aviators who inspected

You will remember Nash as the
STYLE CENTER OF THE SHOW

WITH a great deal of pride, we invite you to attend the display of Nash motor cars at the Motor Show. The Nash showing is a style showing, confirming the fact that Nash is, indeed, a finer mode of motoring.

There is something different about the colors of these fine cars, a richer lustre to their fashionable hues. It is due to the Nash deep-lustre process, which imparts depth and quality to color tones.

The upholsteries are exquisite. Looms, long famous for quality, weave them for Nash. America's fine old walnut trees yield their treasure and lend their design to the knurled and straight grain walnut and walnut finish paneling so liberally used to enhance Nash interior beauty. The graceful Colonial patterns of Nash interiorware reflect the influence of early American silversmiths.

Every detail is correct in style, superb in quality. At the Nash exhibit you'll find inlaid walnut steering wheels—big in-built custom trunks—form-fitted seats, deep tufted as in the most expensive custom cars—side carried spare wheels and tires—an ensemble of beauty and style that is winning the warmest admiration from the crowds attending the Show.

Long after the Motor Show is past, you'll remember Nash as the center of Motor Show style!

AT HARRY HILL TRIALGirl Tells of Youth's Activities in Month Mother Was Slain.By the Associated Press.
OTTAWA, Ill., Feb. 7.—Miss Alice Sawyer, former fiancee of Harry Hill, took the witness stand today in behalf of the young man accused by the State of murdering his mother and burying her body in the basement of their home in Streator.

In a close-fitting satin hat, a black fox-trimmed coat, brightened by a red poinsettia, Miss Sawyer came timidly into the crowded courtroom. As she climbed up to the chair she glanced toward Harry and the defense attorneys. She seemed to be on the verge of tears.

During the witness' account of their activities in August, the month when Mrs. Eliza A. Hill was killed, the defendant listened attentively.

Additional character witnesses for Hill were heard today preceding Miss Sawyer.

Girl Holds Youth's Hand.

Stepping from the witness chair, Miss Sawyer hurried over to Harry and held his hand for a few moments. Then she smiled.

Attorney Shay asked Miss Sawyer if her relations were with Harry in the fall of 1926 and the winter and spring of 1927.

"I was engaged," she said.

"You mean you were engaged to be married to Harry Hill?" asked Attorney Shay. "Yes," said the girl.

The prosecution objected strenuously, but Judge Joseph A. Davis permitted the reply to stand.

Miss Sawyer's mother recently announced that her daughter and Harry Hill were no longer engaged.

Those who die so easily from "Flu" or pneumonia lack the power of pure blood.

The girl, now a student at Michigan University at Decatur, under the questioning of Attorney Shay listed the "dates" she had with Harry in August.

Went Swimming With Hill.

The State contends Mrs. Hill was shot and killed on the basement stairs Aug. 4 or 5. Miss Sawyer testified she went swimming Aug. 4 at Pontiac with Harry and a cousin, Marion White. That night she and Harry went to a carnival.

Miss Sawyer next saw the youth Aug. 12, when he took her home from the hardware store where she was employed as a stenographer, and returned that evening with Harry in August.

Aug. 13 he called for her at noon at the store and again saw her that evening. About 8 o'clock, she said, Harry received a telephone call and went to his father's office.

She told Attorney Shay that Harry was in Bloomington the week beginning Aug. 14. She had a date with him Sunday evening, Aug. 14, and again saw him Friday, when they went to a show. Harry met her at the store Aug. 14 and she again saw him that night, to the day after Sunday. Harry called at the Sawyer home a few minutes in the afternoon, returning that evening and taking her to a show.

Mrs. Hill's body was found the next day buried in a shallow clay grave, face downward.

Says He Weighed 128 Pounds.

Miss Sawyer told of Harry's having been in several hospitals, once in Ottawa, twice in Chicago and another time at Rochester. She said that in the fall of 1926 he said he weighed about 128 pounds.

The defense indicated it would show that it would be impossible for a man of Harry's weight and state of health to drag the body of a woman who weighed 250 pounds down a cellar stairs and into a grave.

The Rev. George M. Alsbury of Streator, the pastor of the church Harry and his mother attended, was one of the last on the stand.

He told of seeing the young man and Mrs. Hill in church together on many occasions and said they always seemed to be affectionate.

The prosecution objected to a great deal of the testimony.

PIVAC PROVES NO MATCH FOR VETERAN WIGGINS IN COLISEUM BOUT

VISITOR GAINS TECHNICAL KAYO IN FOURTH ROUND

Two Other Contests on First Card of Stockham Post Prove Unsatisfactory to 5000 Persons.

COLISEUM RESULTS

Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis, gained technical knockout over Tom Pivac, St. Louis, four rounds.

Jimmy Mahoney defeated Sailor Maley, 10 rounds.

Walter Roland won over Morris Greenberg when latter was disqualified by Referee Sharpe in third round.

Clarence Kid Shausters defeated Ted Roberts, six rounds.

Wine Windle knocked out King Krumerick, two rounds.

By Dent McSkimming.

There was something untidy about last night's boxing show at the New Coliseum. After witnessing the program, which served to reintroduce the professional game as a legalized sport, the spectators voiced extreme dissatisfaction with the main event in which Chuck Wiggins was awarded a technical knockout over Tom Pivac after four rounds.

Two other bouts failed to meet the expectations of those who hoped to witness evenly contested matches. In one case, Morris Greenberg was disqualified for "holding and refusing to box" in his bout with Walter Roland, and in the semifinal, Sailor Maley, fat and very tired, was a mere punching bag for Jimmy Mahoney in spite of the fact that Maley outweighed Mahoney, 185 pounds to 169.

Thus, three of the chief attractions failed to measure up to expectations. The show was over at 10:30. The attendance at this, the first professional ring show in St. Louis in 18 months, was about 5000.

In the case of Wiggins and Pivac, the bout was a smashing affair for three rounds, Wiggins having an edge. But, late in the third and again the fourth, the veteran, hammered all the fight out of his bout with Walter Roland, and in the semifinal, Sailor Maley, fat and very tired, was a mere punching bag for Jimmy Mahoney in spite of the fact that Maley outweighed Mahoney, 185 pounds to 169.

Although he obviously outclassed Pivac, he obviously outclassed him, too. Wiggins was almost immediately incurred the dislike of the crowd by repeatedly hitting low. His first two or three infractions were disregarded by Pivac and Referee Sharpe, both considering them accidental and harmless. Again, in the second round, Wiggins hit low and Pivac appealed to Sharpe. The referee ordered the men to continue without interruption, but the referee of the round, he went to Wiggins' corner and warned him that a repetition would bring disqualification.

In the very first minute of the third round, Wiggins slammed a hard left into Pivac's groin and Sharpe stopped the bout. After admonishing Wiggins a most vigorous manner, the referee permitted the bout to go on. Pivac, in his turn, apparently wanted no more of it, although he did not request an examination or claim to be injured.

Pivac Is Given Lesson.

Perhaps these repeated low blows, all delivered with considerable force, did no immediate damage, but they probably had a bearing on the early termination of the bout, for Pivac instinctively lowered his guard and thus opened the avenue to his head and jaw where Wiggins promptly played a tattoo.

From Wiggins' standpoint, it was a poor match. In smashing up a leading local boxer, he was sure to gain the disfavor of the crowd, but Pivac's swings to the head had just enough dynamite in them to make the veteran realize that he could not afford to carry the boy along. He started out to box Tom, and did give the youngster a snappy lesson in versatility, even growing so bold as to shift his lead, coming forward with his right hand extended just for his own sake. But Pivac is a born fellow of Croatian stock. He frowned ominously at Wiggins and he socked Chuck with all his left right on the jaw. And then he repeated the dose and the crowd yelled for more. That's when Wiggins went to work, getting in close and piling punches into Tom's body. Some went low and Tom winced. But the crowd wanted action and Pivac kept boring in, justifying the opinion that he was

World's Three-Cushion Champion Runs Out League Match in 36 Innings.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Playing an excellent game of three-cushion billiards, Otto Reiselt, champion of the world, triumphed over Johnny Layton in an American Three-Cushion League game at the Hoppe Academy last night, 50 to 37 in 36 innings.

In other league matches Harry Wakefield vanquished Clarence Jackson at the Fourteenth Street.

Jackson, 50 to 31, in 51 innings, while Augie Kleckhefer lost to Alfred De Oro at Wilbur's Academy, 50 to 47, in 62 innings. Kleckhefer made one brilliant run of nine.

Wakefield and Reiselt each had 7, Layton 6, Jackson 5 and De Oro 4.

Sailor Maley, devoid of all skill and almost deprived of sight, in grave danger of losing his pants, presented a pitiful sight at the conclusion of his bout with Jim Mahoney. Only the most surprising disregard for punishment kept him on his feet after the third round. Mahoney, 16 pounds lighter, had not the strength to knock out the fat man and when Maley rallied in the eighth round the crowd called wildly for a knockout, on which it didn't seem to make much difference.

EUM BOUT FOOTBALL RULES COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES THREE IMPORTANT CHANGES

Injured Ankle to Keep American Out Of Olympic Games

By the Associated Press

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 7.

THE American Olympic winter sports team received its first visit from "old man hard luck" yesterday when Bert Monsen, one of the best American ski jumpers, was injured by faulty landing after a 50-meter leap. Monsen suffered a slightly wrenched knee, which likely will keep him out of the Olympic competitions.

The skaters were sent the full distance in their respective events. Bialis and Farrell show splendiferous form. Bearis Loughran gave several hundred spectators a treat in fancy skating.

FUND TO BRING REGATTA HERE GOES OVER TOP

Committee Raises $5500, Assuring St. Louis of Valley Power Boat Event July 3, 4 and 5.

The successful completion of the drive to raise the guaranteed fund that will bring the 1928 regatta of the Mississippi Power Boat Association to St. Louis on July 3, 4 and 5, was announced at noon today when the report of the Finance Committee was made to a meeting of all motorboat enthusiasts at the American Hotel.

The $5500 fund will enable the St. Louis Yacht Club to accept the offer of the Valley Association, which granted an extension of 30 days before awarding this year's event so that St. Louis might have an opportunity to raise the guarantee. The extension expires to-morrow.

The money on hand now is just enough to secure the event. Additional funds will be solicited before the date of the regatta to defray cost of the event. Officials believe that the proceeds will more than cover the expenses of the regatta.

Any surplus will be used to create a fund to obtain other such events later.

The Board of Aldermen has granted the regatta backers the use of the levee from Pine street to Chouteau avenue for the erection of a grand stand. The races will be run between Eads and Free bridges which enclose exactly one mile of water.

Eighty clubs are expected to enter the regatta here, with 150 of the fastest boats in the country competing for championships.

Ed Koeng announced after the meeting that the regatta would be sent this afternoon to the officials of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat Association announcing the success of the local financial plans and acceptance of the regatta dates.

BACKWARD PASS HEREAFTER CAN BE RECOVERED

Officials Rule Ball Must Be Tossed at Least 2 Yards — Muffed and Fumble Punt Law Clarified.

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Three important changes in the gridiron for 1928, each designed to correct abuses or confusion growing in the previous rules rather than to effect a fundamental alteration, were announced yesterday at the National Football Rules Committee after a secret week-end meeting.

In a nutshell they remove a good share of protection afforded the lateral or backward passes, do away with the confusing distinction between a muffed or fumbled punt and deal a blow to use of the so-called "screen pass." They provide:

1. That a backward or lateral pass must be tossed at least two yards so that it may be recovered by the defensive side if grounded but not advanced, thus doing away with the protection afforded under the rules last year to hidden ball and other trick passes beyond the scrimmage line.

2. That either a muffed or fumbled punt may be recovered by the kicking side, but not advanced beyond the point of recovery.

3. That no player on the side making a backward pass and who has crossed the line of scrimmage may interfere with an opponent until the ball has been touched, thereby doing away with what the committee believes has been unfair blocking and checking to screen the pass receiver, by players who themselves are not eligible to receive.

These are the only changes effected by the Rules Committee, which rejected such other suggestions as return of the six-day pass, and the committee and individuals will offer "sprint" prizes in addition for the winners of particular days running.

And So for 65 Days.

Each day's stint will consist of from 40 to 60 miles, depending on the difficulty of the route. The runners will be sent forth in sections so as not to congest the traffic and will be timed for each day's progress. Then they will all start out together again the next morning and on and on, rain or shine, and here for 65 days.

At the end it is conceivable that one man may be as much as 30 hours ahead and have the race won. But he will have to start out with the others just the same on the last morning and run on to Yankee Stadium.

A tremendous caravan will accompany the runners. At every stop there will be medical attendants.

This point of view was put before the committee by the newly-appointed advisory group of three coaches—Knute Rockne of Notre Dame, Hugo Bezdek of Penn State and Bill Spaulding of the University of California (Southern Branch).

In obtaining the clarification and modification of the rules as to make them easier to apply on the field, however, the coaches were considered to have gained their objective.

The new lateral pass rule probably will have the most decided effect since it eliminates from protection the short passes between ball carriers in close line plays and gives a definite yardage by which officials may determine their decisions.

At the same time, in the opinion of the committee, it requires a sufficient measure of protection to encourage the continued development of backward passing as a real strategic feature of the offense.

Will Be a Free Ball.

The former wording of the new rule provides that "on any such punt (other than a free kick from the punter's back) which is clearly down a distance of approximately two yards through the air and is merely handed to or towards another player, the ball, if it hits the ground, is a free ball, but is dead at the point of recovery, counting down if recovered by the kicking side."

One of the most questions of the new season was the determination of whether a muffed or fumble of a punt, but it is met by the simple expedient of eliminating the necessity of making a distinction. It means the committee points out, that the kicker's side may recover any muffed punt or an ball which may be fumbled during the course of a run back, but may not advance the ball beyond the point of recovery.

Here is the official text: "A player who is off-side is put aside when the ball touches an opponent, but when a kicked ball is not a free kick or one which is kicked and does not cross the line of scrimmage, is legally recovered by the kicker's side, the ball will be declared dead at the point of recovery."

ILLINI BASKET TEAM AGAIN WEAKENED BY INELIGIBLE PLAYER

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 7.—Coach Ruby of the University of Illinois basketball squad is one man that has more than enough troubles. With two men declared ineligible and another out of the game account of sickness, all within the last week, prospects for the remainder of the season were anything but bright, but on top of this came the announcement last night that Fred L. Ladd, Illinois Okla., coming to be declared ineligible. The Illinois team to face Northwestern here Wednesday night will necessarily be an inexperienced machine and from present indications the Wildcats should not have much trouble in strengthening their standing in the Big Ten Conference championship race.

3. That no player on the side making a backward pass and who has crossed the line of scrimmage may interfere with an opponent until the ball has been touched, thereby doing away with what the committee believes has been unfair blocking and checking to screen the pass receiver, by players who themselves are not eligible to receive.

These are the only changes effected by the Rules Committee, which rejected such other suggestions as return of the six-day pass, and the committee and individuals will offer "sprint" prizes in addition for the winners of particular days running.

And So for 65 Days.

Each day's stint will consist of from 40 to 60 miles, depending on the difficulty of the route. The runners will be sent forth in sections so as not to congest the traffic and will be timed for each day's progress. Then they will all start out together again the next morning and on and on, rain or shine, and here for 65 days.

At the end it is conceivable that one man may be as much as 30 hours ahead and have the race won. But he will have to start out with the others just the same on the last morning and run on to Yankee Stadium.

A tremendous caravan will accompany the runners. At every stop there will be medical attendants.

This point of view was put before the committee by the newly-appointed advisory group of three coaches—Knute Rockne of Notre Dame, Hugo Bezdek of Penn State and Bill Spaulding of the University of California (Southern Branch).

In obtaining the clarification and modification of the rules as to make them easier to apply on the field, however, the coaches were considered to have gained their objective.

The new lateral pass rule probably will have the most decided effect since it eliminates from protection the short passes between ball carriers in close line plays and gives a definite yardage by which officials may determine their decisions.

At the same time, in the opinion of the committee, it requires a sufficient measure of protection to encourage the continued development of backward passing as a real strategic feature of the offense.

Will Be a Free Ball.

The former wording of the new rule provides that "on any such punt (other than a free kick from the punter's back) which is clearly down a distance of approximately two yards through the air and is merely handed to or towards another player, the ball, if it hits the ground, is a free ball, but is dead at the point of recovery, counting down if recovered by the kicking side."

One of the most questions of the new season was the determination of whether a muffed or fumble of a punt, but it is met by the simple expedient of eliminating the necessity of making a distinction. It means the committee points out, that the kicker's side may recover any muffed punt or an ball which may be fumbled during the course of a run back, but may not advance the ball beyond the point of recovery.

Here is the official text: "A player who is off-side is put aside when the ball touches an opponent, but when a kicked ball is not a free kick or one which is kicked and does not cross the line of scrimmage, is legally recovered by the kicker's side, the ball will be declared dead at the point of recovery."

THREE PREPARATORY LEAGUE SOCCER GAMES SCHEDULED TOMORROW

MACKLIN LEADS IN MATCH WITH DETROIT CUEIST

Boxing Comes Back

LEGALIZED boxing's advent to St. Louis was a whirlwind of attention, but something of a dull, artistically. Badly-conditioned fighters, ill-assorted pairs and boxers afflicted with that tired fussed up the other soon afterwards. At close quarters, where Belanger had been figure to scope heavily, Genaro's superlative boxing ability and long experience frustrated Frenchy at every turn. The champion was dangerous until the end but Genaro's defense left him no opportunity to put across a knockout punch.

The matchmakers for the Stockman Post guessed wrong as everywhere because the attitude to the boxers. That happens to the boxer toward his profession today is not what it once was.

In a country packed with immigrant leatherpurses who are going nowhere professionally and whose ambition in life is to pick up the most money with the least effort and risk, the arrangement of satisfactory boxing.

The opening of the game at Kansas City, some months ago, was an even more odorous occasion. Chicago, with all its promotion magnates is having a rough time putting on bouts that are not that Dr. Macklin put over his best efforts. In the next three innings, he put over runs of six, five and four, giving him a lead which he never lost.

A Matter of Business

IT is not to be expected that the fighters of today will go through the terrible sacrifices of 50 years ago, when pride and popular favor were the main incentive to the winds and slugged away to the top. In fact, the American Joe Belanger's left eye was badly swollen early in the fight and Genaro opened a cut over the other soon afterwards. At close quarters, where Belanger had been figure to scope heavily, Genaro's superlative boxing ability and long experience frustrated Frenchy at every turn. The champion was dangerous until the end but Genaro's defense left him no opportunity to put across a knockout punch.

The Coliseum's next card will probably be an improvement over the last; but at no time can there be any guarantee that fighters boxing for percentages or small purses, will put up a satisfactory struggle.

Boxing as conducted in this city for many years past bears witness to that fact.

CANADIAN AMATEUR SKATING EVENTS NOW SCHEDULED FEB. 24-25

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 7.—The Canadian amateur speed skating championships, twice postponed because of bad weather conditions, will be held at Toronto, Feb. 24 and 25, it was announced yesterday by John F. McCarty, president of the Ontario Speed Skating Association.

Genaro led from the start. For the most part he depended upon his superior boxing ability to give him the edge but at times he flung caution to the winds and slugged away to the top. NET CHAMPION ANNOUNCES HER 1928 SCHEDULE

Will Not Compete in Riviera Events — Wants Two Weeks' Practice Abroad Before Playing.

By the Associated Press.

BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 7.—Helen Wills today made known her plans for further conquests in the tennis world. She announced that she would forego a trip to Hawaii to appear in the Honolulu championships in order to depart early this spring for Europe.

Miss Wills said she would leave here in March in order to have at least two weeks practice in Europe before she plays in team matches which the United States Tennis Association is arranging in Holland, Germany and France.

She also will play in the Wightman cup matches for the American team and she will enter the Wimbledon championships. She has not decided on a decision about participation in the French championships but may do so since the date for this event has been changed to May 22. The Wimbledon play is set for June 25.

Miss Wills said she had decided to play in the Riviera tournament as she did not want to much play in Europe prior to the American team matches.

Kaiser Opposes O'Laughlin on Belleville Card

Pair Will Meet Tonight in 10-Round Bout at 129 Pounds.

Johnny "Pee Wee" Kaiser, local featherweight, will oppose Tommy O'Laughlin of Belleville in the 10-round feature event of a card at Belleville tonight under the auspices of the American Legion.

Kaiser has been bothered slightly with a sore left elbow since his fight with Johnny Hopfinger at Decatur last week, but this soreness has virtually disappeared following stiff workouts at the National Gym, where Johnny now is reported in good shape.

O'Laughlin is rated as a tough opponent, having met and defeated leading men of his weight in Chicago and that vicinity in the past several years. The pair will fight at 129 pounds.

Another St. Louis boxer, Red Ripple, will fight Mickey Cummings of Scott Field in an eight-

Tad Jones Named Chairman of Yale Advisory Board

By the Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 7.—AD JONES, lost to Yale as coach of the varsity football team by resignation, will return as chairman of the graduate advisory committee of football for 1928. The board of control of the Yale Athletic Association has announced the appointment.

As chairman of the advisory committee, Jones automatically becomes a member of the board of control and as such, will have considerable say as to the choice of his successor as coach of the varsity.

round semifinal. Bill McDonald will meet Paddy Herdman in a six-round preliminary at 160 pounds and Ardel Hoffman and Speedy Schaeffer will tangle in the opener of four rounds, at 135 pounds.

St. Louis and several Illinois towns are expected to send delegations to the card.

KURZ EXPECTED TO PLAY IN TILT WITH OKLAHOMA

Washington Basketball Star

Will Miss Today's Practice Because of Injured Ankle.

Ralph Kurz, Washington University guard, sat apart from his teammates yesterday afternoon in the Bear field house and nursed an injured ankle, which is still badly swollen, but Don White, Bear coach, believes the player will be in condition by Friday night, when the Washington team plays the University of Oklahoma in a return engagement at Norman. Kurz will not be allowed to scrimmage today but will participate in practice Wednesday and Thursday.

Kurz' ability to resume his position is one of the factors which White is counting on to give the Bears an opportunity to defeat the Sooners in the return meeting. In the game here last Friday, won by Oklahoma 28-20, it was Kurz' injury which told heavily on the Washington chances.

White is still deplored the Bears' handling of "pot shots" in the Oklahoma game. The hilltopper's coach, however, stood up to the game by more than a safe margin.

White, however, had their opportunities not been tossed feverishly against the backboard: "Give us an even break on 'being right' and I think we have a great chance to win," White said.

The Oklahoma five, which the Bears held to 28 points, has been scoring an average of 41 points each game.

White was pleased with the game which he had to leave off-field.

Lohrberg was assigned to cover Churchill and the result of his effective work was indicated by the fact that the Sooner star scored only one field basket.

"Internationalists" Fail to Save St. Marks in Soccer Final

Skill of the Imported Murphy Brothers Offset by Strength of the "Ice Man" and St. Mathews Win Title—Macken Scores Only Goal of Game.

In spite of the fact that their opponents had the advantage of the services of two "internationalists" in the forward line, the St. Mathews school team yesterday scored a 1-0 victory over the St. Marks to win the Parochial School Soccer League championship.

Bob and Pete Murphy, recent importations from Ireland, played very good football for St. Marks but they could not get the ball past Lombardo, the St. Mathew's goaltender who was the outstanding individual star of the match. The Murphy brothers are 12 and 14 years of age.

So keen was the rivalry between the two schools that the internationalists, which had 20 original entries, that neither would petition for a postponement when they found weather and ground conditions entirely unsuited for soccer.

In four previous games, each team had won one game and two others were tied. 0-0.

There were rumors of a protest based on the eligibility of a certain "ice man" who starred in the St. Mathew's defense but it has been pretty definitely established that he only rode on the wagon and did not actually carry the ice. He did his share in carrying the Mathew team yesterday.

In four previous games, each team had won one game and two others were tied. 0-0.

Bob Larmore will oppose Jack Stecher in the upper bracket of the championship class and in the lower half Mike Cunningham will meet Milton Smith. Larmore advanced to the semi-final round after defeating Herman Richel last night, and Senco won the right to meet Larmore by eliminating Walter Kammann, president of the local Knights of Columbus Gymnasium.

Cunningham and Smith had less trouble with their opponents, the former winning from Rich in straight games, 21-10, 21-15, while Smith defeated Kessler, 21-9.

Class B.

John Atkins won from V. E. Miller by default.

G. E. Morris defeated C. Eisenberg, 21-18, 21-8.

D. Fleischman defeated H. Bernstein, 21-10, 21-5.

L. Gast defeated G. H. Pape, 21-7, 21-16.

Wrestling Champion Trains Hour and a Half With Three Partners.

The semifinal round of the St. Louis Handball Association's city championship tournament will be played at the Downtown Y. M. C. A. courts tomorrow evening, with matches in both the championship and Class B divisions.

Bob Larmore will oppose Jack Stecher in the upper bracket of the championship class and in the lower half Mike Cunningham will meet Milton Smith. Larmore advanced to the semi-final round after defeating Herman Richel last night, and Senco won the right to meet Larmore by eliminating Walter Kammann, president of the local Knights of Columbus Gymnasium.

It was Stecher's first individual training session since his arrival on the East Side last Saturday.

The champion spent one and a half hours in the gymnasium, working on three training partners in turn and winding up with 30 minutes of calisthenic exercises.

He went to the mat with George Lardoux, a Canadian heavyweight, for 20 minutes, then wrestled for 15 minutes with Jimmy Reppin, a Philadelphia middleweight, and for 25 minutes with Frank Tschirhart, a Nebraska heavyweight.

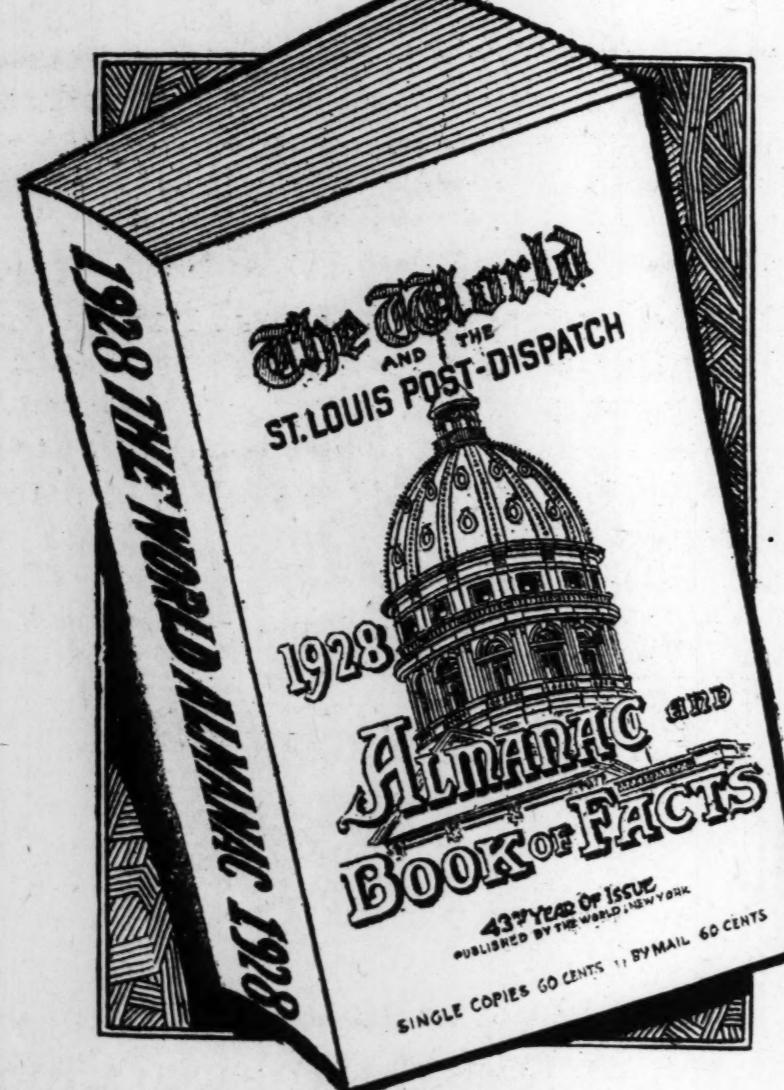

Although he wrestled at speed throughout, he appeared quite strong at the finish. He started his day's work with about two hours of road work in Washington Park.

He was at the South Side Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations of the Illinois metropolis have arranged to give 50 cents to his training staff as a testimonial dinner tonight. Mayor Frank Dwyer, Leslie Forman and Kurt A. Dierleman will be the speakers.

Promoter Tom Parks reported a brisk increase in the sale of reservations for the championship match since the general admission or $5 seats were placed on sale.

Stecher Works to Develop Defense Against Headlock

While Wrestling Champion Trains an Hour and a Half With Three Partners.

Various methods of defense against the headlock favorite held by Ed "Strangler" Lewis were stressed by Joe Stecher, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, during a vigorous workout on the mat yesterday afternoon at the Knights of Columbus Gymnasium, East St. Louis.

It was Stecher's first indoor training session since his arrival on the East Side last Saturday. The champion spent one and one-half hours in the gymnasium, taking on three training partners in turn and winding up with 30 minutes of calisthenic exercises.

He went to the mat with Gene Leduc, a Canadian heavyweight, for 20 minutes, then wrestled about 15 minutes with Jimmie Reynolds, a Philadelphia middleweight, and for 25 minutes with Frank Tomek, a Nebraska heavyweight.

Although he wrestled at top speed throughout, he appeared quite strong at the finish. He started his day's work with about two hours of road work in Washington Park.

The East Side Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations of the Illinois metropolis have arranged to give Stecher and his training staff a testimonial dinner tonight at the Frank Doyle, Leslie Forman and Kurt Dieckmann will be the speakers.

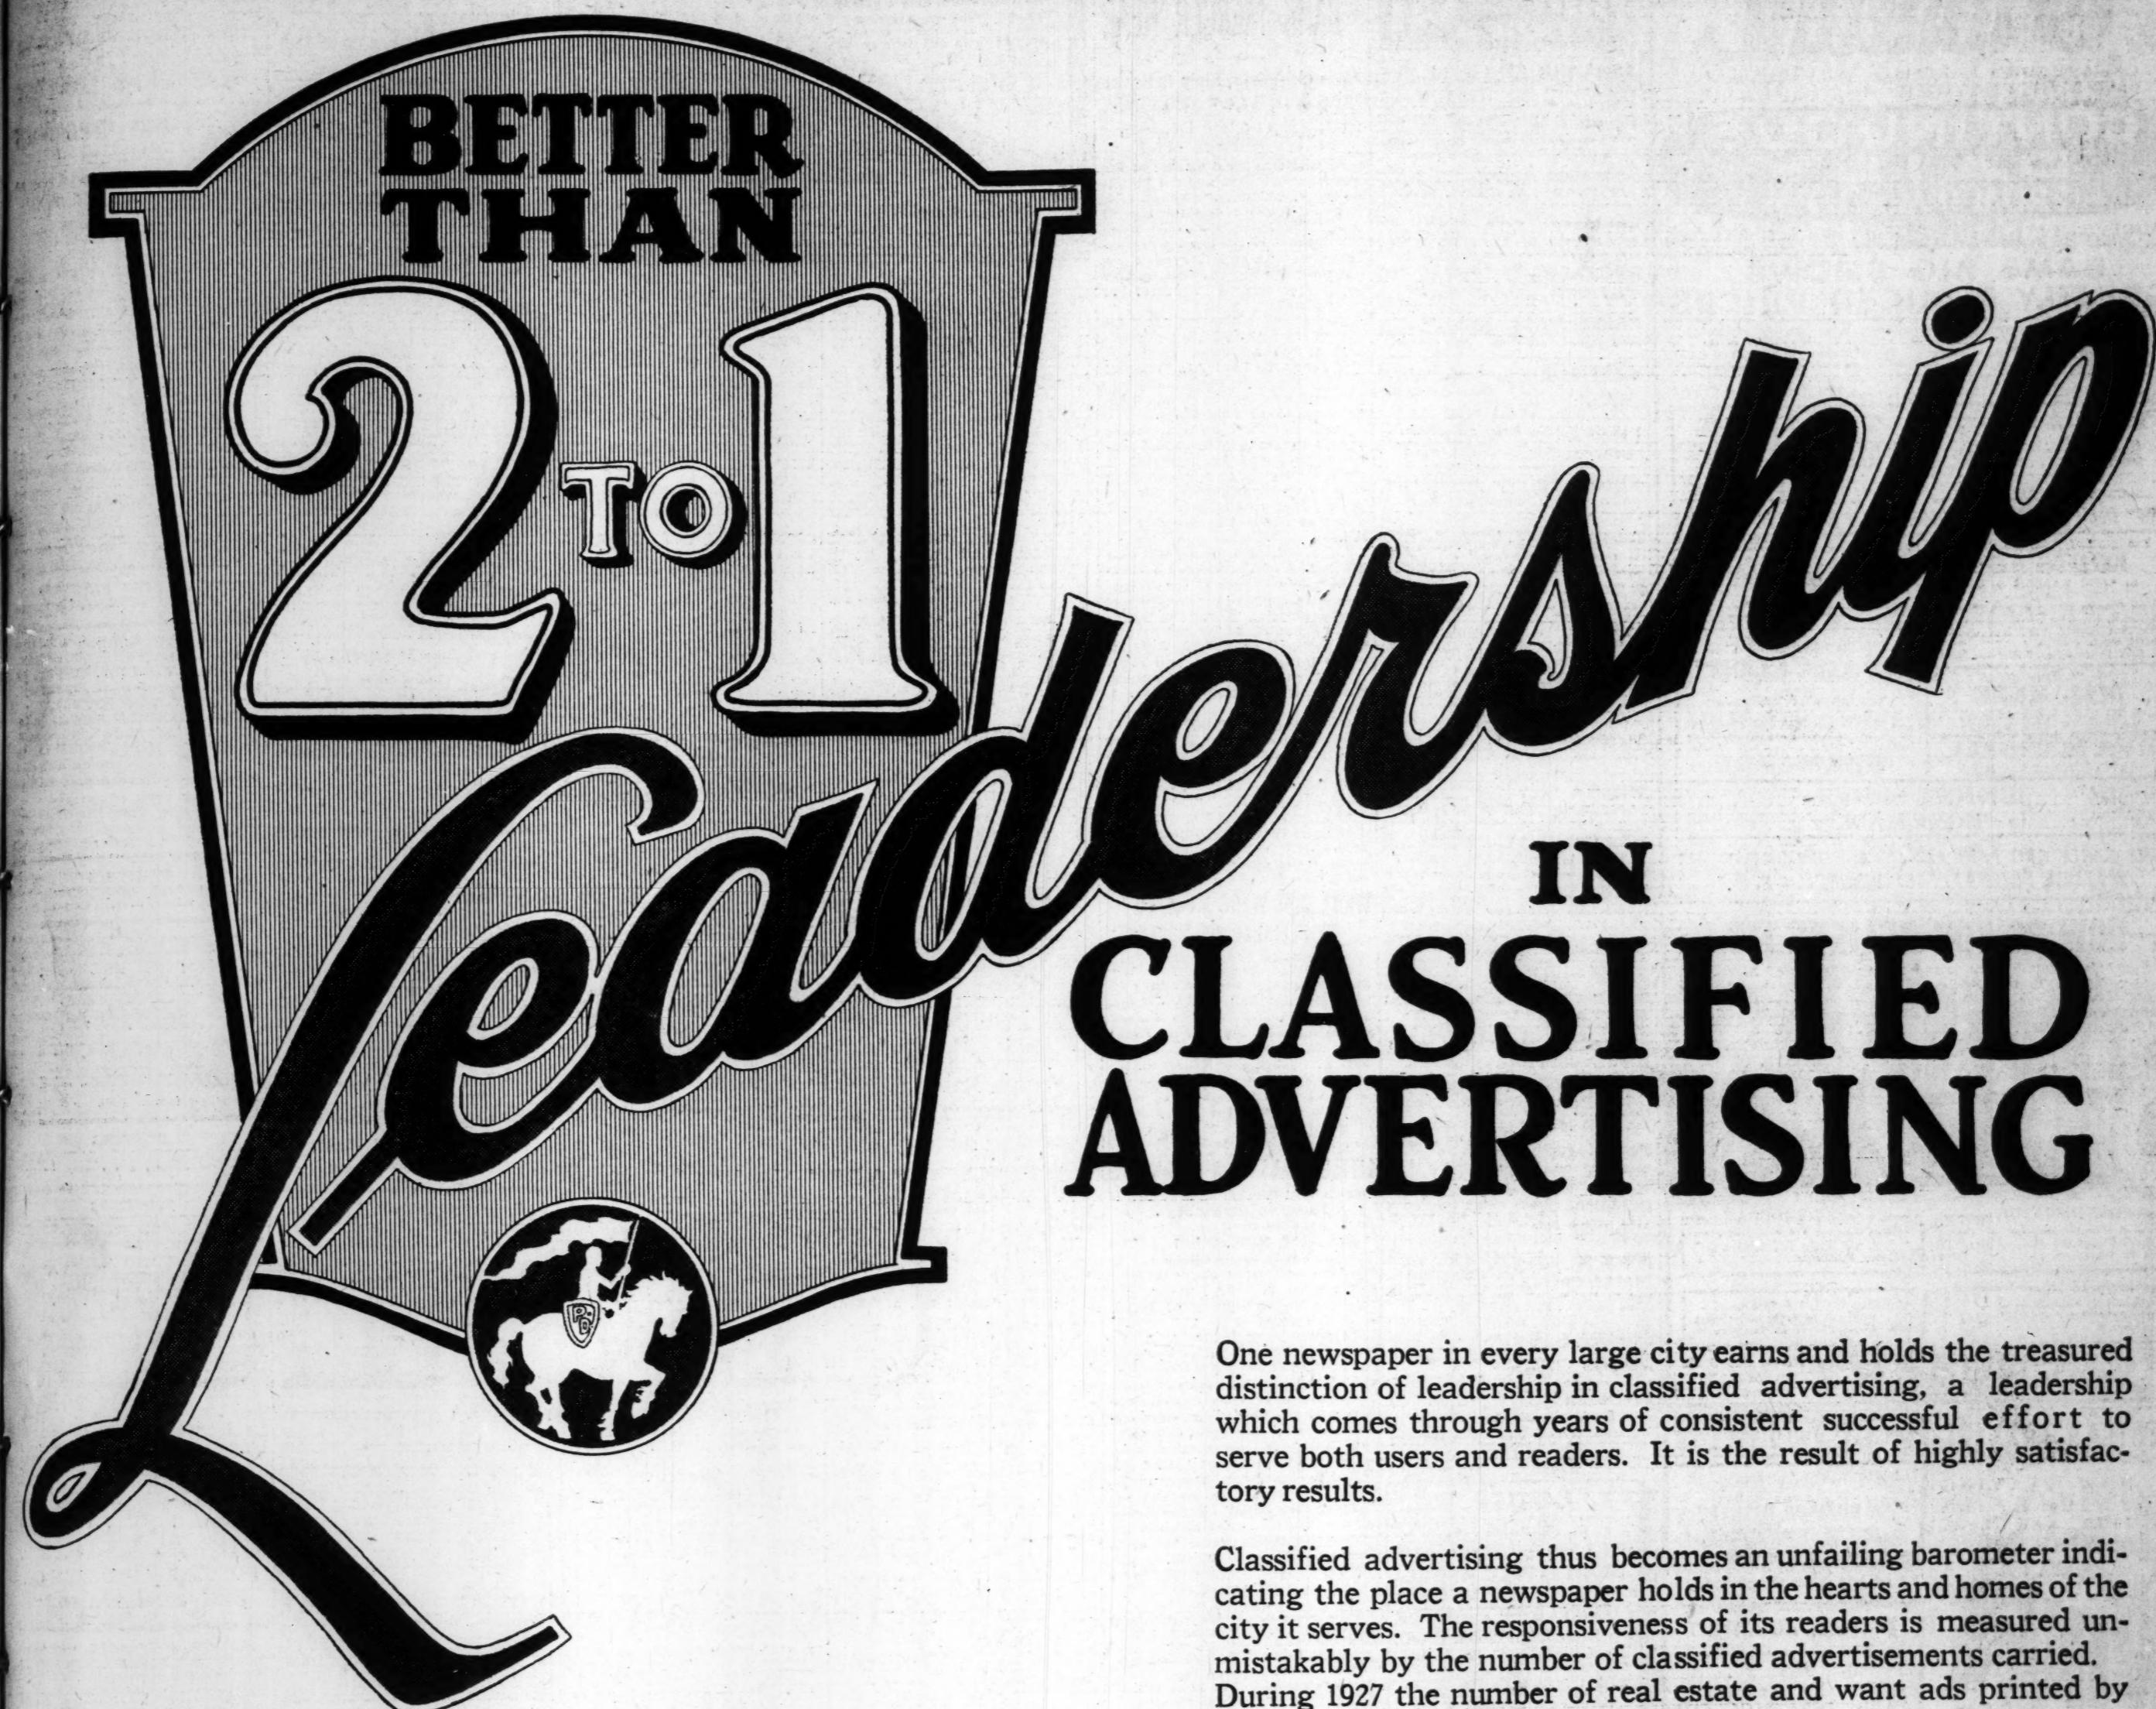

Promoter Tom Pucks reports a brisk increase in the sale of reservations for the championship match since the general admission or $5 seats were placed on sale.

One newspaper in every large city earns and holds the treasured distinction of leadership in classified advertising, a leadership which comes through years of consistent successful effort to serve both users and readers. It is the result of highly satisfactory results.

Classified advertising thus becomes an unfailing barometer indicating the place a newspaper holds in the hearts and homes of the city it serves. The responsiveness of its readers is measured unmistakably by the number of classified advertisements carried. During 1927 the number of real estate and want ads printed by the St. Louis newspapers follows:

Post-Dispatch	854,771
Globe-Democrat	397,298
Star*	68,588
Times*	35,743

*No Sunday

The Post-Dispatch printed 457,473 more than the Globe-Democrat, 750,440 more than the Star and Times combined, and 353,142 more than ALL THREE other St. Louis newspapers combined.

In St. Louis the Post-Dispatch continues to forge farther ahead as the One Big People's Popular Want Medium of the Billionarea—a supremacy it has held for almost a quarter of a century, a distinction accorded by the people it serves.

Overland Route to the WestJUSTICE ARGUES IT OUT WITH HIS CONSTABLEEpithets Fly and Fight Almost Occurs in Meyers' Court.

Law and likewise order were run out of Justice of the Peace Meyers' court this morning, when the Justice threatened to do the same thing to his Constable, Gabe Roth. The officials called each other by such terms as dog, headache, damned this and damned that, and then they took off their respective glasses.

Bystanders crowded to the railing, which seemed to have been set there by a fistic providence as the outposts of a prize ring. Constable Roth shook a finger in His Honor's face. The Justice advanced, then he hesitated; Roth advanced, then he hesitated. But not a blow was struck.

Court began in quite the approved fashion at about 10 o'clock. The Justice took his seat on his bench, and Constable Roth stood next to him, calling this the "Tenth case" was called, just as any other, and Roth said, "I want a decision on this case." "Call the cases," the Justice answered.

Constable Roth took the papers and threw them on the Justice's desk. "I want a deposit," he said. The Justice made no reply. Roth threw another packet on the desk. Then he threw three packets on the desk. Obviously his wrath was warming.

"Go on with the cases," said the Justice.

And then Roth stood in front of the bench and in plain words told Justice Meyers what he thought of him. "There won't be any court," Constable Roth yelled. "Get out of here," Justice Meyers shrieked.

"You're driving all the business away from here," the Constable hollered. "You're as snippy as if you were Justice Taft."

An extended exchange of sulphurous remarks then adjourned of court for a time. The wheels of justice in minor cases began grinding again, with the Justice and his Constable looking daggers.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleans the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentler and safer instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with a "dark brown" complexion, or with ill health, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply skin.

Olive Tablets are a purplish vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Known them by their color.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective "Walnut Mixture" of yore. See how much better you feel and look. 15c. 30c 60c.

THIS MODERN WORLD

By Neal O'Hara

PICTURES ON THE AIR. RADIO is coming out with picture supplements. Its next backward step of improvement will be action pictures to match the acoustics. This has already been done by the General Electric Co. Leaving nothing else for its wizards to accomplish except broadcast the sense of smell.

We know such progress is due. In fact, the radio has leaped from closing Omaha hotel prices to John McCormack. And when John reached top C, there was nothing to look forward to but pictures. Now they are here.

Broadcasting magnates quickly discovered their antennae subscribers would listen to anything that sounds like a noise. Now they have ears for all the noises and will start on voices.

By next October your discordant home won't be complete without a radio frame alongside your lead speaker. With a "Stop, look and listen" sign where you used to hang "God Bless Our Home."

But radio television is going to turn broadcasting upside down again. For your favorite announcer may have to leave his voice but keep Adam's apple. He will either have to have his neck lifted or employ a ventriloquist's dummy for his microphone appearance.

And now that television has been hooked up with radio, we are in favor of broadcasting the United States Senate's proceedings, as Senator Dill demands. It would be a good thing for the country to listen to and look at their Upper House Representatives. That would insure a brand-new Senate next year.

Tea, B. F. Keith invented the continuous performance, but it looks like General Electric will raise it to a nuisance basis. It is bad enough to drop in on friends and have to listen to the wireless music. But now you will have to look at the pictures, the other waves in. This is the worst form of electrical punishment devised yet. Not even excluding the electric chair.

And there is going to be many a family spat when mother wants to tune in on John Barrymore's profile and daddy insists on twisting the knobs to see Gilda Gray broadcast her muscles.

The wonders of science are limitless. Just think of electricity freezing ice cubes in your kitchen while in the parlor it is bringing views of Greta Garbo kissing John Gilbert. All on the same plug!

With television linked up with radio, you have a $40 seat at the next Dempsey-Tunney fight. Jack and Gene can fight it out in a padded studio and with a purse of $3,000,000 applause cards.

Broadway chains will comb the earth for novelties and brush them off right in your living room. You will get everything from Charley Paddock running 100 yards to slow movies of Harry Lauder reaching for a dinner check.

And along in the near distant future, when some motor company wants to introduce a new car, there will be a giant television screen broadcast from Rome, Mona Lisa from the Louvre in Paris, an original Rembrandt from Amsterdam and a genuine Raphael from Florence. With Bud Fisher acting as announcer.

Housekeeping Helps

Bedrooms done in blue are said to be soothing to the nerves.

Throw the soapy dishwater on the rose bushes. It will cause them to thrive.

Windows would require far less washing if they were dusted just as frequently as the furniture in the room.

A little starch in the neckbands, cuffs and down the fronts of soft shirts will make them launder much better and keep clean longer.

Heat the new range gradually to prevent the possibility of cracking.

Chamois leather gloves should be washed in lukewarm suds and rinsed in slightly soapy water or they will dry stiff and hard.

Use up old spoons of silk for baiting. Silk can be removed more readily than cotton and leaves no traces where the stitches have been.

Electric Flashers

Never operate any electrical device or turn off a switch when the hands are wet.

Don't attempt to mend broken electrical appliances without definite knowledge as to what should be done.

Use only one hand in switching on or off electric lights. Keep the other hand free from any possible metallic contact.

Don't try to wire lamps with enormous lengths of wire tucked around doorways and subbases. It is cheaper to pay extra money and have the plug put where the lamp is desired. These long lengths of exposed wire are dangerous.

Irregular Lines Feature the New Hats.

SPRING millinery responds to the call of femininity by modifications of the severity of the seasons. More feminine shapes of frocks and bodices, with the graceful scarf and increased fullness of skirts, demands a compliance in the realm of millinery.

With slashed brims and pleating as the last word in chic, the irregular line makes for ultra becomingness. Regular lines exist no more. These models sketch replicas of French creations are illustrative of the trend toward the jaunty smartness of the pre-Easter millinery.

Felt contrives to remain in the field of fabrics and permits of subtle manipulation. However, this season it accedes to a combination with straw that has a surprising air. Pedaline straw braid allies itself with felt and contributes interest to the chic little felt skull cap shown at the upper left of the sketch. This replica of a George-ette inspiration is made in the new seasonal colors, including a shade of beige, gray, navy and black.

INEN-LIKE straws are afforded much prestige at present, and among these is sisal, that will come in for considerable mention as the season advances. It fashions the attractive off-the-face hat in the left center group and is trimmed very simply with navy blue satin ribbon matching the color of the straw.

The manipulated brim caught up skillfully at the center front and held in place by a bow of grosgrain ribbon bows, is another example of the variations taken by the broken brimline. This clever little design by Reboux is developed in felt and replicas come in a variety of new season colors. Here is shown distinctly the up-in-front line of the brim that reveals the brow to a far greater extent than any military fancies for many seasons past.

Mother Gets Letter

FROM Bottom of Sack

AFTER resting at the bottom of the Mediterranean Sea for 10 years, a letter has been delivered to its addressee, Mrs. A. Wilkins of East Oakland. Her son, Ronald Wilkins, wrote it from a Salvado hospital in May, 1917, serving under British colors.

On its way to London, where Mrs. Wilkins was living, the mail bag was torn open and sunk. Last year it was raised by the British admiralty, and the mail pouches recovered. The letter followed Mrs. Wilkins through the regular mail channels.

DO YOUR GUMS BLEED?

This is a sign of weak gums. Weak gums are a symptom of the body. With the use of the new pyrolytic process however, with the rapidity, pyrolytic gums multiply and increase rapidly by a powerful process.

Cats have neutralizing effect... it reduces the further growth of gums. It gets in the mouth and neutralizes the acids that irritate the gums.

Cats extract a tonic for weak, flabby gums.

Feb. 6. Form worn by sailors of every navy seen against snowy white decks and the blue sea.

Dark blue is to be the color most favored by Worth, according to his present model. He likes a dark blue sweater worn with a white beige skirt. He says women are tired of the eternal beige ensemble with its indefinite outline. Dark blue has the added charm of making its wearer look young.

Monsieur Worth thinks the general popularity of sports clothes for all occasions is on the wane.
He predicts a return to the standards of 1914, with afternoon frocks once more playing an important role.

Besides the dark blue and an attractive dark "guards" red for the daytime, he will show amethyst shades and a new topaz yellow for evening gowns and a very pale grey that is almost white for the afternoon.

WHO MISSED THEIR CHANCE

Mrs. Hugh Dodson's Pupils Are Mostly Men and Women Whose Education Was Neglected in Their Youth.

By A. B. HENDRY.

Mrs. Hugh Dodson, wife of a postal employee earning $56 a month, was faced with the problem of making ends meet for herself, her husband and two babies, 25 years ago, she did what for her, a former Evanston, Ill., school teacher, was the most natural thing—she started classes of instruction.

Her classes were not for willy-nilly girls who were stalling through school, and usually considered a terrible field for private tutors. They were for those who had missed the chance for education in their younger days; for those who had become, financially or otherwise, unsuccessful and lacked the attainments of those with whom their parents later brought them in contact. She specialized in teaching what she terms "adults of neglected education."

Now Mrs. Dodson is the supervisor of a staff of 10 teachers—of whom her husband, who left the post office four years ago, is one. She has more than 100 pupils at present and, during the 25 years she has been teaching privately, has personally taught perhaps 3000 men, women and children in subjects ranging from English "as she is spoke" to mathematics and from the preparation of dramas to ballroom manners and mannerisms.

Those who present the greatest appeal to me, I guess, are men who have been raised in the country where, as children, they lacked opportunities for education," Mrs. Dodson said. "It is fairly astounding how many of them, laboring under great disadvantages, come to the city and make good in a comparatively short way. It seems that it is only then they begin to realize what they missed in school and they start studying subjects which the average school child in the city knows well, with a vim that is astonishing.

These men always are good students. They will become intimately conversant with their subjects in only a few months and soon have finished a course that would take some one less zealous a longer time.

"Frankly too, men bring their wives, who buy with housework or other things, have failed to progress with them. I even have had young men bring their prospective wives who, due to the circumstances in their families, have had to go to work when young, in fact, perhaps, and who, of course, are not as informed as they might otherwise have been.

Men are bald more than women because a woman just wouldn't be bald. When a woman sees that her hair is getting thin, she starts right in to taking care of what she has left, and she generally saves enough out of the debris to pass on through life with some hair! But a man's ashamed to take care of his looks—it he thinks anybody's looking at him. If he goes into a hair-dressing parlor, he sneaks in, sits looking up and down to see if he's noticed.

"Now if you're already so bald that you have to tie a string around your head to tell where to stop washing your face, you might as well rub the old cranium with vaseline every night. If you haven't any hair to get it out of, it is easy to rub it off each morning. But it is hard to get out of your hair, if you have any. If your hair is just thin, use equal parts of castor oil and larderine, or equal parts of castor oil and bay rum. This will comb down better than vaseline. And is awfully good for the hair, especially when there's no dandruff.

The massage is what mostly counts in making hair grow. Where the hair is falling out, the scalp must be dry and bare. Masses will loosen the scalp, assist circulation, and stimulate growth. To begin massaging, put the hands flat against the head, palms downward, and with the tips of the fingers, work around the scalp, until you can move the scalp itself around. Then go over the entire head with

Steps to Prevent Baldness

By Anne Jordan

I HEARD a man "kidding" another man about his bald head the other day, and the bald-headed one answered, "Aw, that's all right. Grass can't grow on a busy street." When upon the first he remarked, "You men in an empty shed need no cover," and the bald-headed man laughed, but I was sorry for him, because no matter how used they get to being teased about it, no man really likes to be bald.

SLAIN GIRL'S FATHER FACES DICKMAN AT SANITY TRIAL

erry M. Parker Identifies Youth as One to Whom He Paid $1500 Ransom Both Sides Rest.

HOUR LIMIT PUT ON ARGUMENTS

Two Captors Describe Chase on Oregon Highway and Identify Weapons Found in Auto.

the Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—After a full and dramatic appearance in the witness stand of Perry M. Parker, father of Marian Parker, with State and defense rested their cases today in the sanity trial of William Edward Hickman, kidnaper and slayer of the 12-year-old girl. Final arguments in the trial were scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. Judge J. J. Trabucco announced that by agreement of the two sides, the trial would be limited to three hours for argument, with the time opening and closing.

The taking of testimony ended in a hush as Parker took the stand. The long, hard stare was directed at the grief-burdened father upon the slayer of his child. Hickman, slumped and motionless in his chair, looked down at the counsel table before him.

"He was the man," Parker testified, identifying Hickman as the one to whom he paid $1500 ransom out of his savings to return the kidnapped torso of his child.

The father's testimony was chiefly that of identification of ransom letters and telegrams he received from the kidnaper. He recited briefly his prepared meeting with Hickman and his turning over of the money "at gun point" as payment for Marian's lifeless body.

Parker's Testimony.

Parker testified as follows:

"Where do you live, Mr. Parker?" asked District Attorney George S. Trabucco.

"No. 1551 South Wilton Place," Parker replied.

"How long have you lived in Los Angeles?" "Since 1887."

"What is your business?" "A lawyer."

"With what bank are you affiliated?" "With the First National."

"Are you the father of Marian Parker?" "Yes, sir."

"Has Marian a twin sister?" "Yes."

"Have you any other children?" "Two boys."

"Where did Marian go to school?" "At the Mount Vernon Junior High School."

"Do you remember receiving a telegram on Dec. 15?" Parker responded.

"I was on the witness stand and waited at Hickman for several moments before he could answer."

"Yes, I did."

"Did you also receive a letter from your daughter that day?" "I believe it was the next day, the morning, that I received the letter."

"Knew Child Was Kidnapped."

"Did you know at that time that she had been kidnapped from school?" "Yes, on the afternoon of Dec. 15, when I arrived home from the bank about 5:15 p.m., there was a telegram waiting for me."

Parker kept staring at Hickman without answers. Hickman sat silent, waiting for his stare and sat looking forward. A few moments later, the glances of the father but quickly turned away.

"After you received this telegram, did you inform the police?" Parker was asked. "Yes, immediately," he said.

Keyes then showed Parker the People's exhibits Nos. 4 and 6. These were the telegrams and letters from "The Fox," sent immediately after the kidnapping.

"Did you receive other telegrams and letters after the first arrived?" "Yes, each of these contain a letter from your little girl?" "Yes, sir."

Parker's hands trembled as he examined the letters from his daughter and the telegram telling of the kidnapping. He was unable to make his voice heard and was asked by Judge Trabucco to speak louder.

And, on Friday, did you not receive a letter telling you where to meet the money and where to meet the kidnaper?" he was asked. "Yes, he told me to take $1500 and to go to a certain place, where he would meet me and give me my child. He had told me in a telegram to make instructions and to call on the phone Friday and told me where to go."

"Did he tell you what demands he had to have the bill in?" "Yes, he did."

"You obtained $1500 in $20 bills and $10 bills."
